Citizens petition opposes annexation

By Carla Bit

Two St. Albert residents have decided to take a citizens' initiative in protesting Edmonton's massive annexation bid.

Dianne Sonnenberg and Terry Baudoin have 1,300 signatures on their petition which was circulated door to door in April, just after Edmonton announced its plans to take over St. Albert and other areas.

"I was pretty shocked when I heard what Edmonton announced," said Mrs. Sonnenberg. "I assumed that someone in St. Albert would start at petition but I asked around and found that no one had, so I did."

She and a group of 15 volunteers went door to door to collect signatures and once the initial campaign was over, the petition was placed in the public library for anyone who wished to sign.

A second, more intensive effort will go this Friday and Saturday at the Grandin Mall. Mrs. Sonnenberg and Mrs. Baudoin will try to get as many signatures as possible, hopefully a total of 10,000.

"We'll be set up in a booth toward the Safeway end of the mall across from the stereo shop on Friday from 7 to 9 p.m. and all day Saturday, from 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m.," said Mrs. Sonnenberg.

The petition asks that a plebiscite be called to determine whether residents in St. Albert want to become part of Edmonton or remain a separate entity. It also notes that the oldest settlement in Alberta should be preserved and that smaller governments are more responsive to community needs.

This will likely be the only chance residents have to show exactly how they feel about annexation. Mrs. Sonnenberg will be off on holidays next week and the petition must be in the hands of the Local Authorities Board by September 1.

The petition will become part of St. Albert's submission to the LAB sometime in the fall. City manager Bob Byron will be getting a group of officials together to make the presentation, and Mrs. Sonnenberg feels that her petition will be able to back them up by indicating just how St. Albert citizens feel.

"We think it will help because they will be able to point to the petition during the hearing and say, "This is how our citizens feel about annexation," said Mrs. Sonnenberg. "If you don't try, then you can't complain if annexation goes through. If we didn't have this petition then Edmonton could simply claim that no one in St. Albert was opposed. The petition will show we are."

The refugees have arrived!

By Carla Bit

Despite a two and one half hour delay in flight arrival, the Vietnamese "boat people" finally touched down at Canadian Forces Base Edmonton, in Namao at 4:15 p.m. yesterday afternoon.

The flight had originally been scheduled for 1:45 p.m. but some time was lost in take off from Hong Kong and the refuelling stops in Japan and Alaska.

Even so, approximately 200 Vietnamese walked off the plane looking less like refugees and more like a group of tourists on their way for a holiday.

As yet, though, the Department of Employment and Immigration office in Edmonton isn't exactly sure how many have landed in this first bunch.

"At last count there were 199 but we won't be sure until we actually sit down and count them," said Employment and Immigration spokesman, Garth Norris.

He isn't even sure how many of those on the flight are sponsored.

"We hoped to have mostly sponsored refugees in this group, but we won't know how many are sponsored until we go through the documents."

For most, it must have seemed like a dream vacation. Going to a place they had never been to, though may have seen pictures of in a magazine or heard stories about from relatives or friends who had been. But it's not a vacation. This is permanent.

The refugees, for the most part were clean, wearing new

Incredible as it may seem given the ordeal recently experienced by the Vietnamese 'Boat People', this young family stepped off the plane at Namao looking for the world like they were merely returning from an overseas holiday. ## Committee recommends rock concert bylaw

By Jeff Adams

A major outdoor rock concert in St. Albert? In peaceful, serene St. Albert? Sound impossible?

Not so, says the city's committee of the whole. It recommended Monday night that council should direct staff to look at drawing up a bylaw to deal with any applications for a concert in St. Albert.

Mayor Ron Harvey said the action is "just in case we do get one coming in." The committee reached their decision after some urging from Staff Sergeant G. Siemens of the St. Albert RCMP Detachment.

In a letter to City Manager Bob Byron, Mr. Siemens wrote that, "the increased popularity of rock festivals in the rural and municipal areas of Alberta" makes it necessary for St. Albert to create laws that will "place financial responsibility on the promoters of the policing of the event and for cleaning up of the site after the event."

With his letter, Mr. Siemens included a sample bylaw for licensing festivals from the city of Ontario, California. That bylaw makes the promoter responsible for providing parking, camping areas, food concessions, medical aid, policing, fire protection, lighting, traffic control, an insurance bond, toilets and sanitation facilities. Applications must be thoroughly reviewed and require financial statements, police photographing and finger printing, and security deposits.

PROBLEMS, PROBLEMS, PROBLEMS

Troy Lear, 13, is deeply involved in repairing his fishing rod on the banks of the River Sturgeon Tuesday afternoon. Troy hadn't had much luck with the fishing, not catching one of the famous Sturgeon jacks, when his fishing gear went on the blink. However, many other St. Albert kids have been pulling out some big ones lately.

New management Relief promised for Abacus tenants

An Edmonton company has taken over management of Abacus Cities' Rivercrest apartment complex and promises some relief for angry tenants within a few weeks.

Jack Thorpe of Scandinavian Management Services says his company is aware of poor and unfinished workmanship at the apartments and will be working to correct current problems.

"It'll take about two weeks to look things over, so we should be able to make some intelligent decisions then."

Mr. Thorpe said his company has been hired to manage all of Abacus' properties by the firm that's handling them in receivership, Thorne Riddell Company.

He said they have authorization to make repairs to the Rivercrest property and it's only a matter of taking the time to study what should be done first. "We haven't had a chance to look at it yet. We know it's pretty rough. There's a lot of work to be done, that's for sure."

Mr. Thorpe said his company has handled several receiverships and bankruptcies before. Abacus tenants have been instructed to pay their rent and direct any complaints to the Scandinavian offices in Edmonton.

A report in last week's Gazette described faulty fire alarm systems, leaky roofs, crumbling plaster, non-existent landscaping and vandalism at the Rivercrest complex.

When Abacus ran into financial troubles a few weeks ago, contractors became reluctant to work on the project, fearing that the multi-million dollar company would be unable to pay its bills.

Cemetery plans moving smoothly

A master plan for operating St. Albert's cemetery is well on its way to completion and the grounds could be ready for use by this fall, reports City Manager Bob Byron.

Mr. Byron told the committee of the whole Monday night that an estimate of annual operation and maintenance costs has been prepared and other details should follow for council approval within the next three weeks.

He said in a later interview that if council gives its approval to the plan at its first meeting in September, "if someone wants to get someone interred this fall there's no reason we couldn't (allow it) even though all the work might not be complete."

Roads and construction would be finished, he said, but grassing and landscaping might not be complete until the spring.

In his report to the committee, Mr. Byron said costs for the cemetery are estimated at $58,000, of which $22,000 have already been spent. The additional $36,000 will cover costs of site preparation, landscaping, tree planting, road construction, utility installation and plot layout and marking.

Mr. Byron added that as much as $35,000 may be raised by the sale of 100 plots.

Committee approves new Perron street bridge

St. Albert may be getting a new Perron Street Bridge within a year.

At its August 13 meeting, the committee of the whole approved a recommendation to city council to begin a design study to replace the existing bridge.

Design costs are estimated at $35,000 and construction will require about $800,000.

City Engineer Don Corrigan reported to the committee that funds for the designing could be taken from the city's 1979 Transportation Systems Management Program. Construction costs, he added, may be covered by the province because the bridge would serve as a major arterial access while Highway 2 is reconstructed.

The St. Albert Area Transportation Plan Summary Report has already recommended reconstruction of the existing bridge by 1980. Development in and around the downtown area is increasing so rapidly that better access to the northwest part of the city is urgently needed.

In voting to recommend a design study, the committee's main concern was that the existing bridge must be preserved for its historical value. "The historical background for it is fantastic," said Mayor Ron Harvey.

The present bridge is the third on the site, the first dating back to Father Lacombe's days in 1862. Father Lacombe is said to have been tired of walking out into the mud to reach a barge which took him across. As a result, he enlisted support to build a bridge -- 200 feet long and 15 feet wide, the first one west of the Great Lakes by some reports.

In approving their motion, the committee also agreed to contact the St. Albert Historical Society to learn more about the bridge's past and possible plans for its future.

"A lawn decoration for city hall," joked committee chairman Barry Breadner, might be one option.

clothes and carrying various types of hand luggage. All looked healthy and it was hard to believe that only a few days before they were in slum type refugee camps.

They, in effect, looked none the worse for wear after their 20 hour trip and the even longer ordeal of escaping from Vietnam and ending up in the camps.

Except for a few Department of National Defense and Immigration officials, the media were the only ones on hand to greet them, and it looked at times as though they almost outnumbered the refugees. The refugees for the most part either enjoyed the attention or were oblivious to it. There was little time for reporters to mingle, however, as the refugees were moved quickly to awaiting buses and taken immediately to the staging area at the Griesbach Barracks in Edmonton.

The Edmonton staging area will receive all refugees destined for western Canada and some points in Ontario, the Yukon and Northwest Territories. Approximately 9,000 Indochinese boat people could pass through the staging area between now and the end of 1979 with an estimated 2,700 remaining in Alberta.

The barracks has been transformed into an enclosed compound for the occasion, surrounded by wire fencing and patrolled by military police to prevent any unauthorized entry.

Facilities can accommodate between 500 and 600 at any one time, though most of the refugees will be staying only a minimum of two to three days, required to process them and send them on to join their sponsors. Only unsponsored refugees, which will comprise a small number of those going through the staging facility, will stay the maximum seven days.

Another flight carrying approximately 200 will land on Friday and another on August 23. After that, flights will rotate between Longue Pointe, Quebec, the second Canadian receiving centre and Namao, until the 50,000 refugees, the number Canada has committed to accept until 1980 have all arrived.

concert bylaw

mendment to council, the committee suggested that staff should contact the county of Athabasca. Their recent rock festival, said Alderman Margaret Smith, provided them with "experience in this kind of thing."

Mrs. Smith added that the city's bylaw should be written in such a way that it can regulate any and all "open air type gatherings."

"If we can put it in general terms then it can apply to rock concerts or anything else that the city might want to encourage."

Asked for his own feelings about rock concerts in St. Albert, Mayor Ron Harvey said, "I'm not too much against them if they're controlled, but then I'm only one (vote) of seven."

ATAA protests hearings

Battle brewing over telecommunications jurisdiction

An argument between provincial cable television and telephone companies over who has the rights to implement additional telecommunications services may soon become a constitutional matter for the courts to solve.

The Cable Television Association of Alberta (ATAA) is protesting the upcoming hearings before the Public Utilities Board of Alberta (PUBA) that are to recommend future provincial controls on telecommunications, arguing that the whole matter falls under federal and not provincial jurisdiction.

The CTAA's vice-president, R. J. McIntyre of Edmonton, says the hearings, which should begin in about three weeks, shouldn't be a matter for the PUBA, and it's time the jurisdictional question was resolved.

Mr. McIntyre noted that the Canadian Radio and Television Commission (CRTC) recently licensed some Ontario cable companies to provide some of these additional telecommunication services, including fire alarms, police and medical alerts, utility meter readings, weather and news requests, goods purchasing, electronic banking and mailing, education aids and career placement.

Edmonton Telephones and other provincially-owned telephone companies opposed the Ontario cable companies' applications but the CRTC ruled against them. Thus, the ATAA argues, the federal government's representative has ruled that the cable companies and not the telephone companies should provide these services, a ruling that should stand up in Alberta as well as Ontario.

Mr. McIntyre agreed that "there should be some decision over jurisdiction before we go on with this," but noted that the ATAA has agreed to take part in the hearings as long as any recommendations from them aren't binding on the provincial government.

He said the provincial acts incorporating Alberta General Telephones and the Public Utilities Board state that they have control over telecommunications, which opposes the constitutional view.

Committee rejects off site parking proposal

Mayor Ron Harvey lost in his bid Monday night to set aside a section of land west of St. Anne Street and north of St. Michael Street for downtown parking.

The committee of the whole voted not to recommend the parking proposal to city council and instructed staff to consider other downtown off site parking possibilities.

"I'm not sure we've thought it through," said Alderman Barry Breadner, in voting against the proposal. "Maybe we should be thinking in more long-term."

The parking proposal, which would accommodate 150 cars, requires $25,000 of unbudgeted city funds for graveling.

City Manager Bob Byron said the money would come from the city's off site parking fund, created from charges levied on developers who couldn't provide adequate parking on their sites and paid $1,000 per unavailable stall.

Alderman Roger Ayotte said he'd understood that that fund was designed to provide a permanent parkade, and not temporary parking on a gravelled field. "If we spend $25,000 on this for only a year then these people didn't get very good value for their money."

Alderman Margaret Smith agreed, noting also that the proposed parking lot covers some land that's been set aside by the city for parking, but also covers other property that's been reserved for other uses. As a result, she said, the gravelled lot could never be permanent.

"Does anyone have any other idea of where to put downtown parking?" Mr. Harvey protested. These developers have been giving parking money to the city, he said, and now they're beginning to wonder what's happening to it.

In looking at other downtown off site parking proposals, city staff will also be acting on a request from Mr. Ayotte that they estimate the cost to provide 50 parking spaces on the St. Anne-St. Michael Streets site. Such a temporary solution, he said, would alleviate parking pressures that now exist.

Major shopping mall proposed

Negotiations are underway for a major shopping centre north of Bellerose Drive on the St. Albert Trail.

Plans for the multi-store complex were revealed at last Tuesday's Municipal Planning Commission meeting.

Owners of the land, Genstar, and the developer, Jason Developments, met with the commission to explain their proposal which includes a Canadian Tire store, a major food chain operation, a home improvement centre and several other smaller commercial establishments.

Because of problems concerning parking requirements and access to the proposed development, the matter was tabled until the next MPC meeting.

In an earlier interview, Jason Developments Fred Anderson said several businesses have made "tentative commitments" to buy or lease commercial space in the proposed mall. Most, he said, must remain secret until the project is approved. If council and the Edmonton Regional Planning Commission give the proposal the go-ahead within a few weeks, Mr. Anderson said, construction could begin in the fall.

A workman puts the paint roller to another newly completed building at Riel Industrial Park.

Riel Park filling up

More than 20 businesses have bought land in Stage One of Riel Industrial Park, according to the developer of the 16-acre site.

Fred Anderson of Jason Developments says 121,000 square feet of land are already under construction and another 105,000 square feet have building proposed.

Buyers range from investment companies to insulation firms. Some of them include: Canadian Power Pac Electric, Chris-Mac Insulation, Croft Plumbing and Heating, Demelco Electric, Dunhill Homes Ltd., Gateway Electric, Kemaro Investments, Meton Holdings and Management Ltd., Sielski, E. S. Management Consultants, State Flooring, Sonray Development Company, T-Z Landscaping Ltd., WHS Leaseholds and Andersen Drywall.

Several buildings are nearing completion. A number of the builders, Mr. Anderson said, will be renting part of the shop or office space to other tenants, so St. Albert residents can count on having even more businesses in town.

He added that in Stage Two of Riel, the development plan should be registered by the end of August. Several land sales are already pending for the 40-acre site, he said, but nothing can be announced now.

Aldermen to wrestle with al-arming offer

Almost 200 bulging biceps will be headed for St. Albert this November if city council agrees to hold the 1979 World Arm Wrestling Championships here.

The president of the Canadian Arm Wrestling Association, John Miazdyk, says almost 100 competitors representing at least six countries will attend.

Mr. Miazdyk is appealing to six Alberta communities to host the championships and commit themselves to about $10,000 in sponsorships. He's contacted Edmonton, Leduc, Peace River, Beaverlodge, Grande Prairie and St. Albert.

"We're hoping like mad that St. Albert will want it," he said. "We don't want anyone else to get it, to tell you the truth. Everytime there's a sports event it's St. Albert that does a good job."

He said the city's organizational abilities were very apparent after the recent Alberta Summer Games but his association already had its eye on St.

Albert. "They always seem to know what to do, to get the professionals to handle it. We want to make sure when people from other countries start arriving that we've got proper people handling it."

Part of any organizer's job, Mr. Miazdyk said, will be arranging accommodations, food and local transportation for the competitors. Canada, United States, India and Brazil will be sending 20 member teams. Other nations like England will send two or three members. Altogether, he said, 28 countries have expressed an interest in attending these first-ever world championships.

"This will be the first time ever that several countries are involved." He noted that arm wrestling, whether it be the sit-down or stand-up variety, is one of the fastest growing sports around. In preparation for the world championships, he said, "they're shutting down Calcutta for a week strictly for arm wrestling."

He said the sport will be included in the upcoming Alberta Winter Games and negotiations are currently going on to make arm wrestling an event in the next Pan-American Games. In a letter to City Council, Mr. Miazdyk said the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation has already expressed interest in taping the competition.

The championships will include eight male and two female weight classes. "The Canadian team is really strong. We've got a good chance and most of the team comes from western Canada."

Meanwhile council hasn't committed itself to anything. Alderman Barry Breadner said at last Monday's committee of the whole meeting that, "My first reaction is that it should be left at arm's length." He offered no apology for his choice of words. Mayor Ron Harvey said later that the city should look at the matter seriously because of the revenues that such an event could mean for the city.

Taylor blasts fund investments

Using the occasion of the Alberta Heritage Trust Fund's Annual Report, Alberta Liberal leader Nick Taylor, launched a stinging attack on Provincial Treasurer Lou Hyndman and the government's Heritage Trust Fund, stating it was "undergarden economics," a "cop-out," and called for the minister's resignation "if the best he can do with the money is make plaintive squeals that other governments or large corporations are not borrowing enough."

Taylor said it was kindergarden economics and pre-Arab financial management to sell excess resources in order to bank devaluing dollars, "particularly as the Heritage Trust Fund natural gas being sold is rising at 20 percent or better per year, whereas Hyndman and Loughheed seem proud of the nine and one-half percent yield in devalued dollars."

"The Provincial Conservative government is guilty of a fire sale of our Heritage Fund's real assets, converting them to useless dollar bank deposits while at the same time denying those same natural gas markets to small Alberta companies."

The Alberta Liberal Leader said that the real "cop-out" and "insult to Albertans" was the "unmitigated gall of a Cabinet Minister that is sitting on assets of $5 billion being quoted as saying that in the future he may have to "lend to large corporations and other governments."

"Has he not noted the shortages of hospital beds, our young people crying for decent borrowing, and the many small Alberta businesses that could use loans?" "This government is dead and doesn't know it," concluded Taylor.

Sale will hurt city, says ex-manager

By Jeff Adams

If the OK Radio Group of Westlock takes over CKST, St. Albert residents are going to lose out.

They'll lose, says part-owner and former general manager Dick Mather, because the new owners won't live up to the commitments that CKST's present owners made to the Canadian Radio Telecommunications Commission (CRTC) to get the license in the first place.

Mr. Mather has approached Mayor Ron Harvey with hopes of speaking to City Council about the CKST sale. "All I want them (council) to do is remind the CRTC that they endorsed our original application for a station and express my fears that our commitments to get that license won't be met by those new owners."

Those commitments, he said, include efforts to make the station as community-oriented as possible, complete with a musical and entertainment selection that would appeal to all ages.

He noted that the OK

Radio people, who've already taken temporary control of CKST at the request of Mr. Mather's four other partners, have changed the music format, timing of news broadcasts and released several staff members. "It is my opinion that those changes are detrimental to the station and the city," he said.

City Council has said they'll meet with Mr. Mather during their regular public meetings but he must first request one in writing. He says he'll probably be doing so. "I just want a reiteration of council's opinion when they first supported our application before the CRTC. I can take that letter (council's) to show them (the CRTC) the commitments that have already been made."

Proposed Greyhound terminal for St. Albert

St. Albert residents wishing to take a highway bus trip may soon be spared the inconvenience of going to Edmonton's downtown terminal first.

The committee of the whole approved a recommendation to city council Monday night that calls for a $100,000 bus terminal building before winter. The terminal, which would be located next to the existing city transit terminal off of Grange Drive, would be serviced by Greyhound Bus Lines Ltd.

The city's current budget sets aside $100,000 for a bus terminal. Preliminary estimates indicate that the building would cost $95,000, leaving $5,000 for berming and landscaping.

In recommending construction of the terminal, the committee also endorsed City Engineer Don Corrigan's suggestion that B.J. Graham Construction be given the contract. Mr. Corrigan wasn't present at the meeting but City Manager Bob Byron said he thought no tendering process was necessary because the contract was for such a small amount, plus Graham Construction had already been involved in the estimate work for the city.

In approving the recommendation to council, the committee's only questions revolved around the absence of public washrooms in the terminal plans. Washrooms will be provided for bus staff but none are planned for customers, said Mr. Byron, because of the "problems and difficulties of vandalism and keeping washrooms clean." He noted that Edmonton's bus terminal has eliminated facilities for the same reason.

A case of mistaken identity

A communication foul-up during the hectic pre-Summer Games organizing activities has resulted in a St. Albert firm being wrongly identified in a Gazette story about identification cards used during the Games.

The firm, Industrial Identification and Plastics Ltd. designed and then furnished Games athletes, officials and media with excellent ID cards bearing each individual's photo. The Gazette story which appeared in the August 1st edition, wrongly identified the cards as photo-ident cards, a brand name used by another firm. Apparently when the Gazette reporter was interviewing a Games official regarding the ID cards the official unconsciously used the brand name advertising used so successfully to program us - like calling all tissues Kleenex or all snowmobiles Skidoos.

At any rate, the excellent service provided by Industrial Identification and Plastics of St. Albert was greatly appreciated by everyone involved.

New buses for St. Albert

St. Albert may soon be getting another three transit buses.

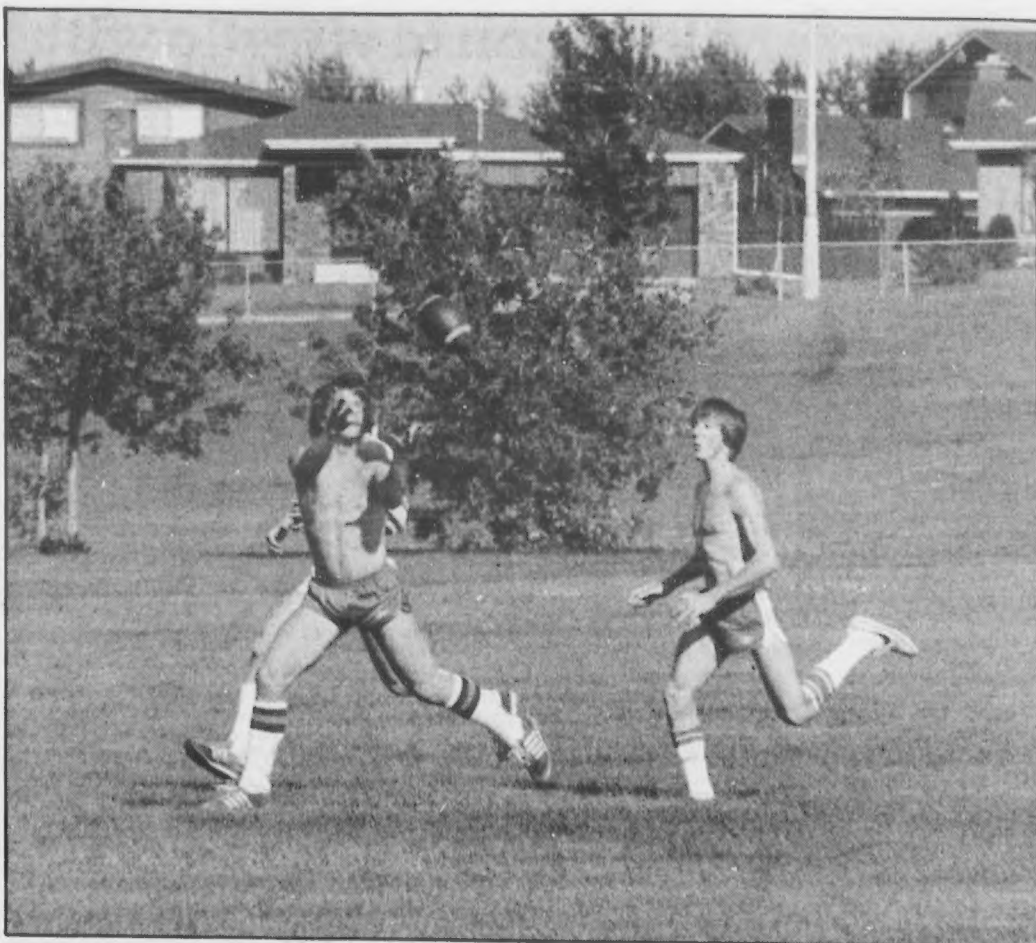

The committee of the whole approved a recommendation Monday night to order three more buses from either General Motors or the Flyer bus firm in Winnipeg, Manitoba.

If city council approves the committee's motion, the buses would be ordered immediately and could be operating within a year.

During peak hours the city's present bus fleet consists of 13 St. Albert-owned vehicles augmented by two Edmonton Transit buses and five privately-owned school buses.

In 1980 the city will be extending service into Pineview, Woodlands and Campbell Industrial Park, reports City Engineer Don Corrigan. At least 19 buses, he notes, will be needed to service that demand.

Jasper Auto Parts still angering aldermen

Alderman Roger Ayotte says if Jasper Auto Parts doesn't start cleaning up its operation, he'll be seeking further legal action.

Mr. Ayotte made his comments during Monday night's committee of the whole meeting. He reminded the other aldermen that Jasper was supposed to have tidied up its St. Albert Trail property before the Alberta Summer Games two weeks ago.

"The city had to be disappointed with the appearance," said City Manager Bob Byron, "... especially while a lot of out of town visitors were here." He said city staff will be meeting with the owners on August 22 and some agreement might be reached then.

"It's pretty hopeless to get any co-operation from them unless we initiate court proceedings and that's a long, drawn-out process," said Mayor Ron Harvey.

Hedging against inflation

*Numismatic delights,
Gold in wafers, ounces, bits and bites,
Futures, silver, stamps, currency,
All investments to try you and me.*

From the exotic to the sublime, unfamiliar investments abound today. Everybody seems to be "into" this or "out of" that. Hedging their bets by being into gold and maybe making a killing, provided they didn't buy within the last week or two. Or maybe getting burned on "the futures," that notorious and sometimes disastrous game of investment chance that's often best left to the very rich who can afford to play.

But what about those other "unexciting" investments such as guaranteed securities? Have we forgotten them in our quest for the imaginative and flamboyant?

Well, if your investment portfolio only consists of the exotic you might be wise to step back a bit and take a hard look at what the "old familiars" have been doing lately.

The first guaranteed investment to look at is without a doubt the most popular but the one with the lowest rate of return in Canada — the savings account. But even in this area there are some innovations worth knowing about. Most financial institutions are paying 10 percent on this kind of investment. But now you can earn interest in a variety of ways ranging from the lowest daily or weekly balance to monthly or semi-annually. The key here is that the more frequently your interest is calculated and paid to you, the more your money is earning.

One of the major advantages of this kind of investment is its "liquidity" — or in other words, how quickly can you lay your hands on it when you need it.

Let's take a look at some other guaranteed investment alternatives you may have forgotten recently.

Term Deposits: These investments are not as liquid as savings accounts. But if you have some money available for a short period of time — between 30 and 364 days — you can make quite a good return. At the time of writing this article, rates for this kind of investment were ranging from 10½ percent to 11½ percent. Keep in mind though that the minimum amount you can invest is usually $5,000. Also, if you pull your money out ahead of the agreed time, you could suffer an interest penalty of between ¼ and ½ percent.

Canada Savings Bonds: Though not always the case this investment, without a doubt, is not a good performer at this time. The last issue came out at just 9.5 percent and even savings accounts are paying more than that. It's not surprising therefore, that an increasing number of people are cashing in their Canada Savings Bonds in favour of other investments.

Guaranteed Investment Certificates: Rates on GIC's are at an all time high ranging from 10½ percent to 11½ percent. They are available for terms of one, two, three, four and five years. The minimum investment required is usually $500.00.

Debentures: Similar to GIC's, the rates on debentures are currently high as well.

Corporate Bonds: Issued by industrial companies as well as by financial institutions, there are a number of issues available right now that are quite attractive. But keep in mind that these securities trade much less frequently than do common stocks and bonds. So if you need your money in a hurry you may have to sell at a lower price than you want to.

There are a variety of other guaranteed investments available including Deferred Annuities available from insurance companies and Income Tax Averaging Certificates issued by trust companies. All are safe and most can give you ready money either by cashing them or using them as collateral for a loan.

Don't be dazzled by the host of exotic investments being touted today. Indeed, you might want to have some in your investment portfolio. But don't ignore the "old reliables" either just because they're not exciting. They should be used to form a stronger investment base.

Readers are invited to forward any questions or suggestions to Mr. Izzard, c/o The Metropolitan Trust Company, 353 Bay Street, Toronto, Ontario, M5H 2T8.

Possible funeral home for St. Albert

With St. Albert's cemetery well on its way to reality, the city may also get its first funeral home soon.

The Municipal Planning Commission (MPC) has recommended approval of a subdivision and rezoning application from the Oblate Fathers to establish a funeral home on their McKenney Avenue-Highway 2 property.

The MPC's chairman,

Barry Breadner, reports that the Edmonton funeral directing firm, Connelly-McKinley, Ltd., would be building and operating a business on the site.

The MPC's recommendation from last Tuesday's meeting now goes to council and the Edmonton Regional Planning Commission for their approval.

SUCCESSFUL SUMMER FOR H.A.S.

I would like to express my sincere thanks for your help this summer. Your support helped to make this year the most successful yet for Hire-A-Student.

Of the 396 students registered in the program this year, all but 34 received a job, even if it was just a casual one. The success of the program has been through the aid of support such as yours.

The Hire-A-Student office will be closing on August 17. Hopefully, with your support, H.A.S. will continue to provide assistance to the youth of this community in coming years.

KNOW ANY "FERRY-TALES"

I am writing to ask for your help with a historical research project I am doing — a complete history of all of the old river crossing ferries of Alberta.

During the past year I have received a great deal of information about some ferries, but I need a lot more on the rest of the 150 (approx.) ferries which operated throughout the province.

If any of your readers can supply any ferry information — names of ferrymen during the period 1905 to 1923 (the official files for this period have been lost); photographs (which I can have copied and return to owners); information regarding accidents on ferries; winter crossings on "ice roads"; humorous incidents; in fact any kind of "ferry-tales" at all, however small or seemingly insignificant, perhaps they could send them to me c/o the Glenbow Museum, 9 Avenue and 1st Street S.E., Calgary, Alberta, T2G 0P3.

I hope that the result of my research will be some kind of publication to inform the present, and future, generations of the very important and necessary role played by the ferries and ferrymen of Alberta in the early settlement of the Canadian West.

DISAGREES GAMES WERE UNFRIENDLY

Replying to the letter from G. Shelly, Saskatchewan regarding the Summer Games.

It appeared to me that he/she attended a beerfest where punches and fights broke out. It is not clear whether G. Shelly was involved or whether this was just observed by him/her. It sometimes happens that even at the best regulated liquor outlets, some people do tend to lose their tempers, does G. Shelly mean that St. Albert residents are responsible for the few who are unable to contain themselves? Does he/she mean to say that at the Commonwealth Games, no altercations broke out at all? I find this very difficult to believe.

Regarding the second paragraph of G. Shelly's letter, I have to say that I was treated with the utmost kindness and courtesy during my time as a volunteer for the Alberta Summer Games and was thanked very profusely for my small contribution, it was a day well spent and personally very much enjoyed.

In closing, I would say that in my experience, to receive abuse one must first, invariably, provoke it.

Chemical warfare experiments a terrifying experience

Last month the U.S. government launched a massive search for 2,500 American servicemen who had been involved in experiments that saw men secretly subjected to a drug 10 times more powerful than LSD.

An organization, American Citizens for Honesty in Government, has spent approximately 500,000 man-hours researching the activities of the American Armed Forces and CIA in relation to experiments involving the chemical agent known as BZ. The information they have uncovered makes some top secret American bases appear reminiscent of the camps of Nazi Germany. The U.S. government has admitted that no follow-up studies were undertaken of the men involved in the experiments and only after public pressure, including that by U.S. representative Burl Anthony (D-Arkansas), did the army begin its search for the men involved.

One serviceman, Don Bowen, responded to ACHG advertisement. He was interviewed by the Los Angeles Times and the London Evening Standard in July. He also gave a statement to the American Citizens for Honesty in Government, much of which appears here.

"I was assigned to Edgewood Army Chemical Centre in February of 1961. There were approximately 70 to 75 men there, as I recall. We went each day to a day room where we were taken out individually and given various medical tests - blood tests and that sort of thing. And as the days progressed, different members, different individuals, would disappear. They undeniably had been told the day before that they would be going that day; however, none of the rest of us knew when that would be or who that would be.

"I saw one other testee prior to my taking a test, who had been allowed to come into our section to shave. He was wearing a pair of large glasses that looked almost like opera glasses, but similar to opticians' that can change the visual images. These glasses had the same capability. They were very heavy and they had a thing that fit across the bridge of the nose to keep them from bothering his nose. When I asked him why he was wearing them he told me he had been injected through a large hole in the vein in his arm. After he had gotten this drug injected into him he lost his eyesight, and that was the only way he could see to shave. I felt later that he was allowed to come in, to sort of let us know what was going on a little bit.

"I then spoke to two other testees. The hospital section was cordoned off from us, and they normally couldn't get into our section, or us into their section once they were there. But two of the fellows were standing at the gate one day and I spoke to them. They told me about heart catheterizations, that they had had heart catheterizations and the drug was injected in them that way.

"It was towards the end of the period - a long period as a matter of fact - and just about everybody had gone for a test when I was taken to talk to a psychiatrist. He asked me at the time if I had any reservations about what was going on and I said, "Yes." He asked me what they were and said, "You've heard stories, huh?" I said yes, I had; I'd heard about heart catheterizations and poking holes in the arm, and that if he tried to do that to me I was going to make a new exit out of Edgewood Army Chemical Centre. He kind of laughed and said, "Well, that's not what we have planned for you."

"After everybody else had gone, I was assigned with three other people to go to the Aerosol Division, Aerosol Section. We reported over there; it was very casual.

"The first fellow went in and sat down on the chair. There was a vial of something with a little nose-breathing device, and he was asked to breathe this stuff in for a while. After five, 10 minutes or so, they asked him to read out of a Life Magazine, and then asked him to perform some simple tests - walking lines on the floor and things of that nature.

"A little later, the other fellow took the same thing with a little longer period of breathing the stuff in. And the same situation - they asked him to read, and so on and so forth.

"The paratrooper and myself were told to come back at 1:00. We did and when we got there, I was escorted from there to another building, which was clearly a laboratory. It was a rather long building, and at the end was a glass enclosed room - the front of it was glass. There were a group of men there, maybe 30 to 35 people. They stripped me down, took my pulse - normal, quick sort of physical. Then they explained to me that I was going to go in this room with two other men, and that I would be required to wear a gas mask for five minutes, and then would take the mask off on a pre-arranged signal.

"We went into a little ante-chamber, and put on a one piece zipper-up-the-front type uniform, then went into the gas chamber. Down the wall from the door in, and down the opposite side, there were rows of animals - dogs, cats, mice, rats, guinea pigs, rabbits - just a little bit of everything. They were covered with plastic, clear plastic - a see-through polyethylene type thing.

"I glanced to the front. There was a chair sitting in the middle of the room facing the glass wall out, and there were people staring through. I remember thinking, "Now I know how a guy feels when he goes to San Quentin and steps in the gas chamber."

That's what it reminded me of.

"I sat down; there were some electrodes that had to be put onto my body. The two scientists were really there for the animals - to work with them - and the one doctor was for myself. They closed the doors, the gas mask went on, and they pumped the agent into the room. (It was never called a gas or an aerosol - it was always an 'agent'.) Through the intercom they asked if I could see it. I said yes, I could. They asked me what color and I said it was greenish, hazy yellow. Then they asked me if I could determine any change in the odor through the mask, and I said, "If you hadn't asked me, probably not, but there is a little change in the odor."

"I waited the five minutes and took off the mask - then they ripped the sheets off the animals. Well, the animals went bananas, they were running around. My immediate response was not to breathe, and I held my breath. Then I realized they wanted me to take a deep breath, so I did take a deep breath. When they saw me take it, they asked me, "was there any sensation?" I said, "Yes, it burned my nose and it burned my nostrils and my lips and throat."

"I remember feeling sorry for the animals because they were still running around screaming. Then they began to settle down, and after that initial response I thought - no taste, no odor of any kind. We waited the six minutes, then they withdrew the agent through large ports at the base of the room. While they were doing that they unhooked me.

"We went out into the ante-chamber and removed the one-piece things, then went back out and sat down. They gave me a medical exam - just a preliminary type thing. While they were asking me some questions, one of the fellows said, "His heart's beginning to race, maybe we should get him over to the dispensary." Two fellows took me from the building.

"I remember leaving the building and going down the walkway and beginning to feel heady and dizzy. I do not remember any of the trip past leaving that building until I got to the hospital section. As we were going down the hallway I remember encountering a man - I was told later that I almost attacked him verbally in the most foul language. He was a captain, I do remember that.

"I was taken off to the dispensary and put in a bed. By then my eyes were beginning to jerk erratically. I couldn't see very well - light was hurting my eyes. A fellow came up and asked me if I wanted to play chess. In my mind I thought that I could just beat the pants off this guy. As we played, he was beating me badly and even though I realized that, I still thought I was going to do something - that I was going to beat this guy really bad. Then the doctor arrived and he looked at me and said, "How are you feeling, Bowen?" The guy I was playing looked at me and said, "Are you under an agent?" I said, "Yes." He sort of backed away and said, "I didn't realize that" and asked me how I felt. I told him that I was irrational in that I felt superior to everybody in the room and that if he were Cassius Clay (he was not Mohammed Ali at that time), I would take him on in a fight and think I could beat him and that I was trying hard to think rationally although I realized that I was not rational. He did ask me some more questions, but I do not recall what they were.

"I was put back in bed and the last thing I remember seeing is the boy who went in the gas chamber after me, the paratrooper. I guess I will never forget what he looked like in the sense that he could not accomplish anything. He could not pick up his sheets, he could not lay down, he could not see, his eyes like mine, were jerking erratically, he couldn't accomplish anything on his own. He had to have people with him all the time. That's the last thing I remember.

"When I woke up, days had past. I don't recall how many. I think it was two. I was extremely hungry and ate a lot of food. I saw a fellow that I had made friends with - an Army boy by the name of Chuck. After I had eaten, I felt pretty good and I got out of bed and walked to the end of the dispensary. I looked at Chuck and I said, "Chuck, how are you?" He looked at me really strange. With no notice that he really knew me. A very blank sort of look in his eyes. He said, "The best bet for you is to take the next bus to Nashville." Well, I just said, "okay, man, that's what I'll do." I just backed away.

"Everybody there was like that. They were here one minute and they weren't the next. I did not see this happen but I did hear that the fellow who went in after me (the paratrooper) fell against a hot pipe and burned his back. I really can't say that actually happened but it was something that we heard about. The last time I saw him, before I was released (by my own insistence, by the way), he was sitting in a bathtub in full uniform with boots and everything else, smoking a cigar, taking a bath and a fellow was with him that was kind of giggling about it. He was kept in his own place, behind the locked gate.

"I left there in April, just prior to the 10th and didn't realize until after I was released that I really was not together. My reflexes were very slow and Chuck and I talked about it going home because I drove very slowly. I was not very coherent in my reflexes to be driving an automobile.

"My wife told me later that she thought we acted a little strange at times. Then Chuck went on back to his base and I've never seen any of those fellows again."

The proliferation of chemical weapons is looked upon by many as more of a threat to mankind than nuclear weapons. They are much easier to produce and much easier to deliver. They have the advantage of incapacitating populations without a corresponding destruction of property. In other words the kill/cost ratio is much lower than that for nuclear weaponry making them more popular to a budget-conscious government. Unfortunately, they also have extremely long 'lives' with BZ having a half life of 135 years.

In Geneva July 30 a submission was delivered to the United Nations Committee on Disarmament outlining the concerns several citizens groups (including Canada's National Commission on Law Enforcement) have concerning the chemical BZ. The submission names several countries involved in the utilization of BZ experimentally and the list includes Canada and locates bases in Alberta as sites at which the experimenting took place. It also notes that the U.S. has enough BZ in its Arkansas stockpile to incapacitate the world's population 10 times over. The groups, represented at the U.N. meeting in Geneva by the Church of Scientology, want the stockpiles destroyed.

The Church claims the agents can be "simply produced or even purchased." It fears that the Third World and terrorist groups will 'go chemical' rather than nuclear to save time and expense. The consequences of mass destruction through chemical warfare is a subject mankind must lend thought to.

Sweden to St. Albert?

One St. Albert family has been treated to a little bit of Sweden since July 22 in the form of an exchange student, Christina Larsson, 17.

Christina has been a guest of the O'Neill family for the past three weeks and will be returning to her hometown of Trollhattan, 500 km. south of Stockholm, on August 24.

She and 35 other students, 32 from Japan, two from Germany and one other student from Sweden are part of the Lions International Youth Exchange. Students apply for the exchange in their respective countries and are chosen on the basis of a composition indicating the reasons they wish to participate.

The O'Neill's daughter Patti, 18, who attends St.

Albert High School, was in Sweden as part of a Lions exchange in July which saw students from St. Albert go to Japan and Sweden. While there, Patti lived with the Larsson family and when she returned she brought Christina with her.

All the exchange students now here are billeted with families in Edmonton, but four Japanese students in addition to Christina are also staying with families in St. Albert. Yesterday morning, the five were treated to a breakfast by the local Lions club in the Community Hall.

Even though Sweden is thousands of miles away, Patti said she found a number of similarities. "Sweden is like Canada in terms of climate, scenery and terrain," she said. "I met a lot of people and they are very friendly."

Christina, however, found several striking differences between St. Albert and her own country, many of which we would tend to take for granted.

"The country here is very flat and I was struck by the roads. They are straighter and wider while the roads in Sweden are winding and have no shoulders."

Grocery stores which pack your groceries for you and television were also things she found different.

Television in Sweden is limited to two channels running only four hours each day.

"People there are very much into sports and up to three of those four hours will usually be taken up by sports," said Patti.

Christina herself is very active, plays tennis and volleyball and has learned to water ski since she's been in St. Albert.

Before returning to Sweden, the O'Neill's will treat Christina to a week long holiday in the mountains and B.C. It won't be the first time she has seen the Rockies, however. The Lions club took the entire group to Jasper for the weekend the first week they arrived. Still, she's looking forward to the trip.

"The mountains are always nice to see. Swedish mountains are flatter and these are very high and pointed."

Sporting a free car advertisement from her birthplace, Christina Larsson, 17, of Sweden, stands with her Canadian host, Patti O'Neill, 18, of St. Albert.

Don't give us yellow, says committee

Those yellow street lights that look like you're peering through a beer bottle won't be installed on St. Albert's residential streets.

The committee of the whole chose aesthetics over practicalities Monday night by agreeing that sodium vapor lighting is acceptable on the city's arterial roadways but not on its residential or collector roads.

The aldermen agreed that the sodium lighting is brighter and cheaper than the conventional mercury vapor lighting, but they feared that residents would object to the yellowish illumination.

"It's an aesthetic question versus dollars," said committee chairman Barry Breadner. He said he was sure that even though the sodium lighting can be 40 percent cheaper, residents would still not like it.

Alderman Margaret Smith agreed, noting that many of St. Albert's streets are curved which wouldn't allow the city "to take full advantage of the sodium lights' longer range" of illumination. Also, she said, many homeowners would have to buy thicker drapes for the front of their houses if the brighter lighting was installed.

City staff have been studying the use of sodium lighting for more than three years.

Rookie cracks car theft 'ring'

During the past few days RCMP have been investigating the theft of a vehicle from the St. Albert Auto Haus.

On Monday of this week two persons broke into that business again, located several sets of keys and stole two vehicles. Rookie Cst. Liboiron, attempted to stop one of the vehicles for a breach of the Highway Traffic Act, however, a high-speed chase developed. The stolen vehicle was followed from the Bruin Inn along Sir Winston Churchill Avenue out onto 184 Street. The vehicle was not using headlights but accelerated to 140 km/h as it headed south. It passed three vehicles and then went out of control after crossing the railroad tracks and stopped in the ditch near Highway 16 West.

A male juvenile was found driving the truck and investigation led to the arrest of 16 year old Edward Charles MacDonald of St. Albert who had stolen the other truck on this date and on the previous date. Several items of stolen property were also recovered and both persons will be charged accordingly.

RCMP even account with City Hall

Last Thursday evening set a turning point in St. Albert's the scene for what was to be history! The City Hall chalenged the local detachment members to a fun game of slowpitch softball. The city held the championship as they won the match last year.

The game nearly got out of hand a couple of times but control was maintained because of high quality of umpiring. Keen competition resulted in a close final score but the Mounties came out ahead.

They invite local groups to matches in the future!

Edmonton graffiti

By Vicky Knight

The period from the '50s to the '70s is usually seen as a time of staggering advances in technology and the quality of life. However, a short look at a publication from the '50s might well cause one to wonder just what kind of progress we've really made—particularly in the economic arena.

For instance, a look at 1952 food prices in an old issue of the Edmonton Journal is enough to make a housewife turn in her coupons. A standing rib roast was selling for 64¢ a pound with chicken actually costing more at 66¢ per pound. A tin of Cohoe salmon went for 25¢ and a one-pound tin of coffee was a mind-boggling 99¢. If you decided to go on a picnic, six bottles of coke would cost all of 36¢, and if you wanted to snap some photos of your outing, the 45¢ cost of developing eight exposures wouldn't break you. If you decided to lie back in the grass nibbling grapes like a true Sybarite, you could buy California's at 17¢ a pound.

Sport and athletic activities were popular in this area during the fifties, although we were then blissfully ignorant of the perils of a sedentary life. Although we weren't worried about cholesterol air pollution psychedelic drugs, Albertans still liked to challenge their physical limits. The Journal records that all the traditional sports were played with fervour, although the racquetball craze was not even a gleam in anyone's eye, and the intricacies of T-Ball, Snow Golf and Surf Sailing were as yet unknown. For those who wanted some more exotic form of exercise, a course in modern dancing was being offered. The location for the dancing lessons was, incongruously enough, the Moose Hall.

If all that frantic exercise made you ravenously hungry, you could stop by a city eatery. According to its advertising, one of these eateries seemed to have aimed its menu at Southern Black Mexicans—The Harlem Chicken Inn. Their menu was indeed cosmopolitan listing chile con carne, tamales, hot biscuits and chicken-soul food on a tortilla, so to speak.

The interest in professional sport was just as keen as ever. The December 1, 1953 issue is full of woe over the Eskimos' Grey Cup loss to, of all people, the Toronto Argonauts. The Eks put on a less than distinguished performance, losing 21-11. The team was accompanied to Toronto by 1500 Edmonton fans and the Journal was moved to report that "The Eskimos and their supporters won almost every heart in Varsity Stadium." Whether or not the Edmonton of the petro-present could "win hearts" in the east with such ease is a debatable! The Oil Kings were enjoying a ten-point lead in the Canadian Junior Hockey League, and Norm Ullman led the league in individual scoring with 29 goals, 42 assists for 71 points.

For those who preferred a more artistic approach to leisure time, there wasn't quite as much to offer in the Edmonton of 1953. That world-renowned theatrical troupe, The City of Edmonton Recreation Commission was staging "Varieties of '53" at Victoria Composite High School, while the U of A drama department sank its teeth into Dr. Faustus at Convocation Hall. Not too many curtains were rising here in those days. Movie fans however, must have been licking their chops—it was a good year at the flicks. A perusal of one day of movie ads shows a number of classic films were being shown at the time. These included Errol Flynn in "Captain Blood," Sidney Poitier in "Cry the Beloved Country," Gregory Peck, Susan Hayward and Ava Gardner in the "Snows of Kilimanjaro," Charlie Chaplin in "Limelight" or, on a less classic note, Clifton Webb and Ginger Rogers in "Dreamboat." Horror fans were scaring themselves silly with Boris Karloff in "The Body Snatchers" and with a cast of actors who were understandably unknown in "I Walked with a Zombie!" In the innocent Edmonton of the Fifties' a movie like "The Pom Pom Girls" wouldn't have made it past the city limits. For most city theatres, patrons paid from 75¢ to a dollar for admission, a sum which now will barely buy a pop and popcorn.

Some things on the entertainment scene are reassuringly unchanged. Curly's Corral was well ensconced on the CFCW airwaves, and an ad for a Western Round-up announces that both Curly Gerlock and Gaby Haas would be on hand to serve as co-hosts.

When they stepped out for some fun, the Edmontonians didn't feel they were wearing their life savings on their backs, a common feeling in the costly seventies. Two pairs of Oxblood shoes for men would set you back a mere $16, and at Woodward's a lady could pick up a car coat on sale for $25. Nylon stockings however, were another story. Woodward's own brand retailed at $1.39 a pair, a figure that now seems disproportionately high. On the other hand, cowhide handbags were going for $5.95 to $9.95, an amount that might bring tears to the eyes of a modern girl. Worse, an Irish linen dinner cloth could be had for $15.95 and a pair of Wabasso sheets was an incredible $10.50 a pair.

On the international scene, Edmontonians heard about a million dollar fire in Newfoundland; the death of Sister Elizabeth Kenny who was famed for her polio treatments. We shuddered at the news that the UK was building a hydrogen bomb and labour cheered at the merger of the AFL-CIO. The members of the Commonwealth were once again embroiled in longwinded debates, this time over funds for industrial development in poor (no Third World then!) countries. From Ottawa came predictions of prosperity in 1953, with the comment that the economy would be stimulated by defense spending. (To understate the case, one could say this does not seem to be a high priority in budgets of the '70s). Billy Graham was still giving them hell, fire and brimstone, but the government of Korea failed to see the merit in his work and denied him an entrance visa. The McCarthy red-hunt was on, and not just in the US. The director of the London Philharmonic was ousted for a former membership in the Communist party. The weather, despite constant modern complaints regarding a change in the climate, obviously unchanged. One heading read "Snow to Continue Saturday."

All in all, the changes for good or bad since the fifties seem to balance out. We had polio then, but not Legionnaire's Disease. Sewage disposal was not up to our standards, but the waters were mercury free. Sleazy porno flicks were a definite and welcome absentee on the Edmonton scene, but by the same policy we would have missed out on some good flicks, which would have been considered shocking in the extreme.

Alberta's 1950 status made possible for Andrew Snaddon to write a column in the Journal entitled "British Shopping Hours," while Noel Barber gave sidelights on French life. Alberta might have its problems now, but it sure beats the colonial attitudes these columns suggest. The only thing I think that gives the Fifties a lead on the seventies is the Journal itself. The Journal of 1953 did not devote its front page AND banner headline to the Grey Cup Game, giving it modest front page coverage with extensive reportage in the sports pages. This is infinitely preferable to the paper's latest Grey Cup coverage, when an outpouring of self-congratulatory jock talk knocked another story off the front page. That usurped story recounted a little mishap that occurred in a place called Jonestown.

Air Cadets in review

No. 533

Top Squadron for third year

St. Albert Air Cadet Squadron has the honour of being assessed by the Commander, Air Command Detachment, CFB Edmonton as the top Alberta squadron for 1979.

During the past five years 533 squadron has attained an outstanding series of achievements - Top Squadron in Canada 1977; runner up to Top Squadron in Canada 1978; Prairie Region Commander's Certificate 1977, 1978; Top Alberta Squadron 1975, 1977, 1978, 1979; Provincial Senior Drill Champions 1975, 1976, 1977, 1978; Provincial Junior Drill Champions 1976, 1977.

In 1976 St. Albert was an extremely close second for Provincial honours to the Camrose squadron which was assessed as Top Squadron in Canada in that year.

These honours result from the tremendous and active support by the squadron sponsors, the St. Albert Lions Supper Club; the high calibre of administration and the training provided by the excellent and dedicated staff of officers and instructors, not to preclude the enthusiastic participation by cadets. Not only do the sponsors provide the financing and accommodation which enable excellent programs and activities to be undertaken, they participate as instructors and as adult supervisors on squadron activities. A truly outstanding example of only one of the many projects carried out by this service club for the benefit of the citizens of St. Albert.

Change of command at No. 533

After serving a combined total of over 20 years with St. Albert cadets Major Floyd Maybee, the commanding officer, and Captain Gordon Martin, the administrative officer and deputy commanding officer, are leaving the squadron. Both officers cite increased professional and business responsibilities as the reason for their leaving.

Major Maybee will be succeeded as commanding officer by Capt. Ken Armstrong.

CAPT. K. ARMSTRONG

Upon joining St. Albert cadets over eight years ago Major Maybee initiated and developed the squadron training program, (the backbone of any cadet unit). It has now been considered for many years as the model by other air cadet squadrons. This can be attested to by the 10 to 15 senior cadets who are selected each year in a very competitive provincial selection board process for seven summer scholarship programs including exchange visits, power and glider training, senior leaders, athletic leadership and technical and survival training. The courses are provided and operated by the Department of National Defense for cadets from all provinces and territories in Canada.

MAJOR MAYBEE

In his capacity as commanding officer from 1976 to 1979 the successes achieved by the squadron identify the excellent character of Major Maybee's leadership.

Capt. Martin during his more than 12 years with the squadron has displayed an outstanding level of leadership and administrative capabilities. This was especially true during his last four years as administrative officer as he handled the myriad of reports and requisitions, and organized special projects and exercises. His dedication to the cadet career counselling program was an invaluable help to cadets. It enabled them to select optional programs which would assist them in achieving the most benefit towards their personal objectives.

CAPT. G. MARTIN

The dedication and activities of both these officers are reflected in the excellent standards set by the squadron over the past years.

Cadet registration

Registrations for new cadets will take place at squadron headquarters in the Community Centre, Peron Street on Thursdays 6th and 13th Sept. between 7:30 p.m. and 9:30 p.m. Due to space limitations in squadron headquarters the maximum number of cadets maintained on strength is 110.

Should the number of new registrations bring the squadron strength to over 110 the overflow cadets will be put on a waiting list and contacted as vacancies occur.

To be eligible to join cadets, boys and girls must be 13 years of age by December 31, 1979. Cadets who reach their 13th birthday after December 31 may enrol on or after their 13th birthday.

Registration and medical forms will be available on registration nights. The medical examination, which is conducted by your family physician at parental expense, is to both ensure that cadets can participate in squadron activities and make squadron staff aware of any special medical circumstances which may arise during the varied squadron activities.

There are no registration fees involved in joining cadets. Uniforms, ration allocations, training aids, familiarization (fam) military aircraft, summer basic and scholarship training programs and visits to military bases are provided on an allocation basis by the Department of National Defense to all air cadet units.

Glider fam flying, survival training facilities at Camp Wright and zone and provincial drill and sports competitions are provided by the Alberta Provincial Committee of the Air Cadet League of Canada. (These are activities which occur once or twice a year).

The majority of squadron activities take place in St. Albert and involve training programs in leadership, drill, effective speaking, flying subjects, survival, engines, airframes, electronics, photography and basic air cadet organizational subjects plus range, sports, visits to local industry and a 30 strong drum and bugle band. All are provided under the sponsorship of the St. Albert Lions Supper Club.

The squadron requires the services of volunteer instructors to teach flying subjects to private pilot's licence standard and emergency and standard first aid. In addition we require a volunteer band instructor and a woman to assist with the supervision of female cadets during squadron activities. She would assist with administration.

For further information please contact Capt. Ken Armstrong at 459-8081.

Energy conservation in schools big money-saver

Alberta Education will spend nearly $1 million over the next two years on the second phase of a school-based energy-conservation project.

Phase one of the project consisted of three studies which looked at ways in which energy consumption in the province's schools could be reduced.

One study, conducted in Grande Prairie, showed that improved energy management and motivation of people can result in annual energy savings of up to 35 percent.

A second study in Calgary indicated that relatively minor modifications to existing schools can increase energy efficiency by about 20 percent.

The third study done in Edmonton, looked at designs for more energy-efficient schools. It has resulted in a design for a school which is expected to operate on 50 percent of the energy used by existing schools with comparable educational facilities, the experimental school is now being constructed in Edmonton.

Schools constitute 14 percent of all non-residential buildings in Alberta. A 20 percent reduction in the annual use of energy in Alberta's schools would result in annual energy savings amounting to about $10 per pupil or roughly equal to the energy demands of 11,000 homes. That amount of energy, valued at $4,000,000 at today's prices, will increase in value as energy prices rise.

Phase two of the project will be based on the findings of the Grande Prairie and Calgary studies.

A pilot energy-saving project will be established in one school jurisdiction in each of the five energy-conservation zones the province has been divided into for this phase of the project.

Programs will be designed for each school in the five chosen jurisdictions to minimize energy consumption. The programs, which will vary with each school, might include:

- Replacing manual controls with automatic controls in heating and lighting systems.
- Insulating of hot water lines.
- Installing time-clock controls on exhaust fans.
- Insulating of heating ducts passing through unheated spaces.
- Converting incandescent lighting systems.
- Caulking and weather-stripping.
- Providing shades, drapes or filters on windows.

The correction of major building deficiencies may be dealt with as part of the building quality restoration program.

A second element of each project is energy management. This involves creating energy awareness among school personnel and motivating them to manage better the daily use of energy in schools.

On August 17, Hire-a-Student will be closing after its most successful summer ever in St. Albert. Of the 396 students registered, all but 34 received a job even if it was just a casual one. The credit for this success is largely due to the support H.A.S. received from the community. Without this support the program could not have functioned.

Students are still available to work this summer. The window washing crew will continue working as well. If you need their help, call H.A.S. and book them for a time that is convenient for you. The H.A.S. office is located in Grandin Shoppers Park. Drop in, or call office manager Janet Boddez at 458-3808.

Thank you again to all the people who made this year's Hire-a-Student program such a success.

Dr. Gordon Mowat named to education department dept.

Education Minister David King has named Dr. Gordon L. Mowat as Minister's Representative. Dr. Mowat will receive and summarize for the Minister's consideration briefs from individuals and organizations in Alberta concerning recommendations in the report of the Minister's Advisory Committee on Student Achievement.

Dr. Mowat recently retired as Associate Dean, Faculty of Graduate Studies and Research, and as Professor of Educational Administration, Faculty of Education, at the University of Alberta. He established the Provincial Board of Post-Secondary Education which led to the formation of the Colleges Commission and was vice-chairman of the Cameron Royal Commission on Education. He has also had a distinguished career as teacher, school principal, school superintendent and high school inspector with Alberta Education.

The Minister's Advisory Committee on Student Achievement was established in October 1976 and had the task of reviewing the quality and standards of achievement of basic education in Alberta. The Advisory Committee also considered ways and means for assessing, maintaining and improving student achievement and studied how the withdrawal of compulsory grade 12 departmental examinations had affected the quality of education in Alberta.

Major recommendations in the report, which was released in May 1979, were:

1. that mandatory grade 12 examinations not be reinstituted for the purpose of awarding final marks,
2. that a province-wide sampling of student achievement be conducted annually as a means of monitoring student achievement; and

3. that Alberta Education establish a 10-member Student Evaluation Policies Board to advise the Minister of Education on student achievement.

Public meetings to discuss written submissions will be held in October and early November in major centres throughout the province at times to be announced at a later date.

Persons or groups responding to the report will be asked to submit their briefs to the Minister's Representative in advance of any public meeting scheduled for their area.

"Because the effective measurement of student achievement is so important to students, receiving institutions and the community, I hope that a considered response to the Advisory Committee's recommendations will be provided to Dr. Mowat for consideration of the Government," said Mr. King.

RCMP auxilliary program still going strong

The Royal Canadian Mounted Police (RCMP) St. Albert detachment's auxiliary police program is almost one year old and from all indications it appears to have caught on well.

There are now five auxiliary force members in the detachment assisting regular RCMP officers during peak periods with two more expected within the next month. An additional three could be appointed by April bringing the total to 10.

The detachment's community relations officer, Const. Brian Huddle, said two people have already applied for the volunteer positions and are only awaiting appointments from the provincial solicitor general's department.

The program operates in the province's 300 detachments and was started last year. The first St. Albert auxiliary member was sworn in last October. Auxiliaries can come in on their own time, usually on Friday's and weekends but must serve a minimum of 16 hours per month.

The auxiliary program is a duplicate of a successful one which has been running in British Columbia and other provinces for several years. In some large urban centres in B.C. there's often one auxiliary for every regular officer.

While the program has been going well in St. Albert and other larger Alberta centres, it hasn't gone over too well in the smaller detachments.

One problem Const. Huddle sees is that smaller detachments may not be explaining the program fully or don't have the time to recruit, something the St. Albert detachment has been able to avoid because of its proximity to information and auxiliary co-ordinators in Edmonton.

Additional problems, he says, are with expectations of recruits when they apply.

"Some enter the program only to find that it's not what they were expecting and resign, while others drop out because they can't wear firearms."

Once an auxiliary is appointed he's given the same powers of a regular force member except he can't wear firearms or drive RCMP vehicles. Anyone can apply and qualifications are the same as for a regular officer but auxiliaries don't undergo training at the RCMP training school in Regina.

"Auxiliary members, too, only have authority as long as they are in Alberta and must always be under the direct supervision of a regular RCMP officer."

Those in the St. Albert detachment, said Const. Huddle, generally haven't been bothered by any of these limitations.

"Most have joined simply because they have always had a boyhood dream to be a police officer, others are concerned citizens who just feel that the police need help and they want to volunteer their services."

ther, who has been accepted but who is still awaiting his appointment as an auxiliary," said Const. Huddle.

It could be some time before either makes it to the training school, however, as drastic government cutbacks in force recruitment have meant that only 100 RCMP officers will be trained this year as opposed to the usual 1,000.

The auxiliaries have generally been well received in St. Albert and haven't, as some would think, hindered the detachment either in terms of getting additional men or in their ability to handle the work load.

"They have been useful, even if only to have a second body in the car to provide more protection for the officer. It's nice to have a second guy around, because it helps in certain situations like domestic disputes."

To assist the auxiliaries in becoming more informed about the laws they are dealing with, senior constables in the detachment will be holding a series of training lectures on statutes and ordinances with oral or written examinations. The training program won't begin, however, until the two additional auxiliaries are appointed sometime in October.

CONST. BRIAN HUDDLE

Others have used the auxiliary program to enter the regular force.

"We have one female auxiliary member who has applied and been accepted to the training school and another."

By Shauna Oor

The Babys are on the rebound from a lot of bad publicity and poor image advertising. With new additions, Jonathon Cain and Ricky Phillips, the Babys are finally going somewhere. Their most recent album, "Head First" has been doing better than previous ventures and their top 40 hit, "Every Time I Think Of You" follows in the footsteps of "Isn't It Time."

The most probable reason for their lack of acceptance is the unfortunate name . . . The Babys. It's not exactly a standard rock title but when the band started looking for a recording contract (during the bubblegum, glitter era in Great Britain) the name was a strategic, calculated risk. As soon as the name change came about, Chrysalis records signed them.

The loss of keyboard player Michael Corby is an improvement. As of the Babys' second album "Broken Heart," he had become quite sickeningly "showbiz."

There are varying reasons for his departure:

- 1) He left to marry his pregnant girlfriend.
- 2) He was given the "boot" for not pulling his weight, leaving John Waite, Tony Brock and Wally Stocker to finish "Head First" by themselves.
- 3) He had become too "Hollywood" to fit in with the rest of the band and . . .

4) My favorite, there were differences over which direction the band would take.

Still it could be all four.

Recently the Babys played at the Alberta Jam at Calgary Speedway. Although this recent tour has been the most profitable, they have enjoyed some success in the past, even doing a few spots on U.S. talk shows and a recent radio show spot for CFUN in Vancouver. Last season they toured with Alice Cooper and this season they are, hopefully, going to be headlining their own tour.

They still aren't getting the recognition they deserve. Even though "Head First" isn't as good as their previous albums, it shows a new maturity and a slightly more commercial approach to their music.

The story behind the song "California" has been run past me several times and I still can't understand it, but the song itself is good.

The title cut "Head First" is a fast-paced rocker while "You (got it)" is a slow ballad. The stand-out song is "Run to Mexico" with catchy lyrics, ("the ulr in the joint could be cut with a knife, the jukebox's got rotten selections . . .") and is a good example of what the band is made of.

What's most interesting about them is that they can do just about any type of song, (even disco, I imagine, if they could ever stoop so low) and maintain their distinct style.

Lead singer and occasional bassist, John Waite has a good voice, personality, and is a superb lyricist all at the same time. But, "Head First" isn't up-to-par when compared to the earlier albums. Perhaps the conditions under which it was recorded are to blame.

Anyways, if the name doesn't bother you, you should like this band for the simple reason that they're better than most.

IN THE WORKS: Look for Carmine Appice's solo album recently recorded at Cherokee studios in L.A. Also; Mink DE Ville, Heart and the Stones.

Fund continues to blossom

Provincial Treasurer Lou Hyndman has released the annual report of the Alberta Heritage Savings Trust Fund for the year ended March 31, 1979.

The Heritage Fund had total assets of $4,705 million including the deemed assets of capital projects division of $255 million at March 31, 1979, up from $3,367 million a year earlier.

During the year the Heritage Fund earned net income of $294 million on its investments - a 52 percent increase over the 1977/78 net income figure of $194 million.

The weighted average yield at the March 31, 1979 year end on the interest earning investments was 9.5 percent compared to the previous year's average yield of 8.8 percent.

Capital contributions to the Alberta Heritage Savings Trust Fund amounted to $1,059 million - this total reflected the transfer of 30 percent of the non-renewable resource revenue received by the province during the 1978/79 fiscal year.

There are three divisions of the Alberta Heritage Savings Trust Fund - the Capital Projects Division, the Alberta Investment Division and the Canada Investment Division. During 1978/79 a total of $864 million was invested in these divisions.

Under the Capital Projects Division of the Heritage Savings Trust Fund, $132 million was invested during the past year from funds authorized by the Legislature bringing the total investment in the Capital Projects Division to $255 million which represents approximately 5.4 percent of the Heritage Fund. Some of the key projects were:

-- The Alberta Heritage Learning Resources project which will provide unique Canadian content learning resources for Alberta schools.

-- The Kananaskis Country Recreation Development, the Capital City Recreation Park (Edmonton), and the Fish Creek Provincial Park (Calgary).

-- The farming for the future program to promote important agricultural research in Alberta.

-- Construction of new airport terminal buildings at Grande Cache, Edson and Pincher Creek.

-- Applied health research and new health care facilities including the appropriately renamed Walter C. MacKenzie Health Sciences Centre in Edmonton and the Alberta Children's Provincial General Hospital and Southern Alberta Cancer Centre and Specialty Services facility in Calgary.

-- Development of oil sands technology by funding research carried out by the Alberta Oil Sands Technology and Research Authority.

-- Renewable resources improvement including the Alberta Reforestation Nursery, Grazing Reserves and Land Reclamation.

-- Irrigation headworks improvement and rehabilitation and expansion to upgrade existing distribution systems and extend irrigation to new areas.

In addition to the continuation of the projects above, new approved projects for 1979/80 include $3 million for upgrading of university and college libraries throughout the province, and monies for development of the Paddle River Basin and the stabilization of Lesser Slave Lake. Projects under this division are designed to provide long term economic or social benefits to Albertans and, therefore, by their nature do not provide a return to the Heritage Trust Fund. They are recorded as deemed assets, at cost, in the financial statements.

The Alberta Investment Division, consisting of 34.3 percent of the total assets of the Heritage Trust Fund at March 31, 1979, includes investments which yield a reasonable return and tend to strengthen and diversify the economy of Alberta. In keeping with that objective, in 1978/79 the Alberta Investment Division purchased Alberta Agricultural Development Corporation and Alberta Opportunity Company debentures at values of $138 million and $71.5 million respectively. These loans are used by A.O.C. and A.A.D.C. to finance their successful capital lending and guaranteed loan activity. As well, the Heritage Trust Fund continues to be a major source of financing for the huge mortgage and housing program activities of the Alberta Home Mortgage Corporation and the Alberta Housing Corporation. Debentures issued by AHMC and AHC and purchased by the Heritage Trust Fund in 1978/79 amounted to $269.7 million, bringing the Heritage Trust Fund's total housing commitment to approximately $867 million. The weighted average yield to the Heritage Fund on investments in this division is 9.3 percent.

Under the Canada Investment Division, three new loans were made to the provinces of Manitoba and Nova Scotia and to the Nova Scotia Power Corporation. The principal amounts total $175 million. The weighted average yield to the Heritage Fund of all the investments under this division is 10 percent to maturity. At March 31, 1979 this division represented 5.7 percent of the total assets of the fund.

The balance of the Alberta Heritage Savings Trust Fund is held in deposits, marketable securities and long term investments, the bulk of which were debentures of Alberta Government Telephones and the Alberta Municipal Financing Corporation. The 1978/79 income of these holdings has $191 million - a weighted average yield to the fund of 9.6 percent at year's end.

The provincial treasurer stated that investment, earnings and transfers of 30 percent of non-renewable resource revenues to the Heritage Savings Trust Fund are expected to be $1.5 billion in the current fiscal year 1979/80. The fund's assets are expected to reach a level of approximately $6.2 billion by March 31, 1980.

Don't let the name scare you

By Paddle Mills
Consumer & Corporate Affairs Canada

Regularly in this column, consumers are urged to read the label on goods they buy - so they know what they are buying. Canadian law dictates that contents of food items must be listed in descending order of content. So - a Consumer who reads the labels on cereal products for example will easily be able to choose between one that contains a large percentage of sugar (listed first in ingredients) and one that is strictly a wholesome grain product.

Many ingredients on Canadian food packages are listed by their chemical or scientific name. As a result - many consumers find it difficult to understand what they're reading even though they have taken the time to check.

Following is a helpful guide describing chemical substances commonly found in food:

Lactose is a form of sugar that is found in the milk of all mammals. It is much less sweet than table sugar and can be used in foods where this is an advantage.

Sodium Caseinate. Casein is the protein in milk that helps provide its high food value. Sodium caseinate is formed from casein and sodium, an essential mineral nutrient. When combined with vegetable fats or oils, sodium caseinate can be whipped like whipped cream.

Hydroxylated Lecithin. Lecithin is found in each body cell. It is a fatty substance that is present in egg yolk, soya beans and other common foods. One of its uses is to get food oils and water to mix. Hydroxylation is a process that adds oxygen and hydrogen to the lecithin. This helps it to do a better mixing job in some special cases.

Adipic Acid is found in almost every cell of the body. It is vital for turning food materials into useful energy. The synthetic Adipic Acid that is used in food products performs the same function. It also provides sharp acid flavours, desirable textures and extends the shelf life of foods.

Tricalcium Phosphate is a combination of two minerals, calcium and phosphorus, with oxygen. Calcium and phosphorus are essential nutrients, which help in building and maintaining bones and teeth. This compound is used in small amounts to keep dry solid foods from caking.

BHA Is Butylated Hydroxy Anisole. It is a man-made material that is used in tiny amounts to keep foods fresh. Oxygen in the air can turn food fats and oils rancid or give them a stale flavour. BHA prevents this.

Dishwasher traces roots to woman inventor

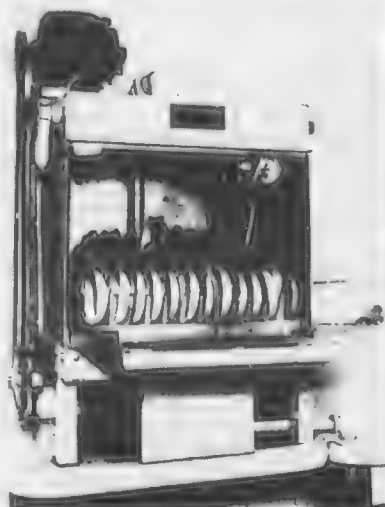

The KitchenAid Division of The Hobart Manufacturing Company Limited is celebrating the 30th anniversary of the KitchenAid home dishwasher which traces its roots back to the 1880's when Josephine Garis Cochrane designed and built the first dishwasher for her own home use.

Mrs. Cochrane formed a company -- Crescent Washing Machine Company -- to sell her dishwasher to the restaurant market. By the time of the 1893 Columbian Exposition, her enterprise was so well recognized that she sold all of the machines used in the concessions at this World's Fair. These machines received the diploma and medal "for best mechanical construction, durability and adaptation to their line of work."

In 1926, Hobart Corporation of Troy, Ohio acquired Crescent which continued to be a leading supplier of commercial dishwashers under the Hobart name.

Approximately 24 percent of the wired homes in Canada have automatic dishwashers. In the U.S., the figure is 35 percent. An estimated 300,000 Canadians will purchase dishwashers this year.

One of the major advantages of a home dishwasher is time saving. A recent university study figured that 16.2 months per month, or 25 eight-hour working days a year, could be saved by using a dishwasher.

It was in the 1880's that Mrs. Josephine Cochrane invented and built the dishwasher on the left for use in her own home. The direct descendant of Mrs. Cochrane's invention is the modern-day version on the right.

Family health is another major consideration. A study by the University of Louisville School of Medicine showed that the dishwasher gets dishes significantly more sanitary than hand washing. In the Louisville study, samples of hand-washed dishes had an average bacteria count of 390. But dishwasher-washed dishes had an average count of less than one, and no bacteria at all could be found on 74 percent of the dishes. Public health standards permit a count of up to 100 for restaurant dishes.

One reason for this increased sanitization is that human hands cannot stand water over about 120°F while the dishwasher uses water between 140°F and 160°F. In addition, stronger detergents are used in the dishwasher and dishes are dried with sanitized air rather than with a towel that may have been used for several purposes around the kitchen.

Dishwasher washing also means less breakage of glasses and dishes and less scratching of silverware. Features such as locking pins on racks make them more stable for the safe loading of easily breakable items. Adjustable racks also allow loading unusual or odd-shaped items.

WHAT TO DO IF: Confronted by a bear.

Don't move. Cast your eye out for a nearby tree. Make it a tall tree, those critters have a 60-foot reach.

Talk to the bear, ask about the wife and cubs or, maybe give an explanation of what you are doing in this territory . . . who knows, it might help.

Back slowly toward your chosen tree, removing your backpack as you go (God forbid you should be without one). When you reach the tree, throw the pack as far away from you as possible and climb.

If he doesn't chase the pack then you are ready for the last resort. Place both hands behind your neck, drop to the ground face first and bring knees up to chest.

Chances are the bear will maul you. Keep still, you may live to tell your story. (The missing fingers and scars will make for a more dramatic ending).

WHAT TO DO IF: Confronted by an angry dog.

Don't move. If you have time before he goes for your throat, hold out your hand for him to sniff.

This is probably how the term knuckle sandwich came into being.

WHAT TO DO IF: Confronted by a snake.

Don't move. If it is January or February and it's unavoidable, let him bite you.

In the winter, their venom is not very strong. If you're bitten by the dreaded coral snake, immediately tie a tourniquet between the wound and your heart, unless of course the wound is in your neck.

Every 15 minutes, loosen the tourniquet and let the blood flow for a minute. If this sounds tedious, don't worry, you will only have to do it once. Coral snake victims usually die within 20 minutes.

WHAT TO DO IF: Charged by a mad bull (is there any other kind?)

Don't move. Wait until the last possible second and step out of the way. Run like hell.

WHAT TO DO IF: Confronted by a shark.

Don't move. This is very difficult if you happen to be in the water. Try a prayer.

Long ago the animal population got together and decided to spread the rumor that "don't move" was effective. After all, it is much easier to know off someone's leg if he's not going anywhere.

WHAT TO DO IF: Approached by a mugger.

If you're all alone on a dark street and being followed, run to the nearest mailbox and shove your purse into it. If it turns out it is you the mugger is after, whip out your tail comb and run it under his nose. That is unless your comb is in your purse . . . in the mailbox.

WHAT TO DO IF: You are driving alone and are being followed by another car.

Drive your car up the steps of the nearest police station. Not up to, but up!

People have been attacked on the police station steps but if you drive right to the door, sooner or later some curious sergeant will come to investigate. Maybe.

Failing that, drive your car through the plate glass window of any jewellery store. Guaranteed to bring out the entire force. The sentence imposed for breaking and entering will be slight when compared with what could have happened.

WHAT TO DO IF: Trapped in a submerged vehicle.

Wait until pressure on the inside is equal to the pressure outside. Because this means waiting till the water fills the car, panic may be tempting. A sing-a-long may alleviate terror for a while. After that, breath-holding contests may prove interesting and, in the long run, beneficial.

Owners of freezers will be putting a lot of time and good food into them throughout the next few weeks. It's that time of year again when a wide variety of fruits and vegetables are becoming available and this makes it possible for families to enjoy an economical supply of their favorite produce all year round - thanks to that freezer.

In order to ensure maximum economy and enjoyment from home grown produce, care must be taken in following a few simple guidelines for home freezer use.

Freezers should be located in a cool, dry and well ventilated room - where there is little temperature variation. Apartment dwellers should take particular note - keeping freezers on outdoor balconies will damage the unit severely due to the strain on coolant mechanisms.

For efficiency of operation and maximum storage life, freezers should maintain a temperature of 0°C or lower. In the event of a power failure or freezer breakdown, opening the freezer should be avoided. The cause of the problem should be investigated and resolved as soon as possible. If it's something over which there is no control, freezer owners should be aware of how long their freezer will remain inoperable. A full freezer can normally keep its contents frozen for up to two days. One that is half full may be alright for up to a day. After that, dry ice at 2½ lbs. per cubic foot of freezer space, can be used to keep it frozen another few days.

For optimum freezer use - foods should be properly packaged, using a moisture proof and vapor proof packaging material. Food that shows signs of freezer burn is unfit to eat. It is also a waste of valuable preparation time and effort - and a waste of valuable freezer space.

An inventory of items in the freezer should be kept up to date at all times. This increases efficiency of the freezer use by allowing one to know at a glance what's on hand. Also items may then be easily rotated so that all is used up during the recommended storage life.

For more information about the energy efficient operation of your freezer, contact your local power company Consumer Information Department - they have loads of invaluable information and it's free for the asking.

Horticultural Society holding annual show

The Edmonton Horticultural Society will hold their 71st Annual Show and Competition on August 18 and 19 at the Norwood United Church Hall, 11601 - 95A Street in Edmonton.

There will be several demonstrations during the show and the Edmonton 75th Anniversary Committee will provide a short film, module display and souvenirs.

Show chairman will be noted horticulturalist, Norm Scott. Mr. Scott recently expressed his thoughts on the need for exhibitions of this sort in a recent Society bulletin.

"Competition is an exhilarating activity," he said. "Win, draw or lose, why not exhibit for the exhilaration and motivation provided. Perhaps we get too serious about 'winning' or losing, rather than the joy of seeing six plates of pods of peas and wondering 'how well did I do.' We win trophies, awards, ribbons and we enjoy that, but we would still do the same exhibiting for the joy of competing. Trophies, ribbons are but symbols of something greater - the ability to show and appreciate."

A horticultural show's primary objective is the education of the public and in order to achieve this more and better exhibits must be encouraged as well as attracting the public to view and learn from them.

"Over the years," said Mr. Scott, "exhibiting has given me the opportunity to discern quality and what it is that determines good specimens. I have been encouraged to continue seeking control of diseases and poorly developed products (especially without the use of insecticides, though I have been unable to eliminate these). Add to quality, the knowledge that I have learned a great deal -- the names, the qualities of particular varieties, the diversity of what we grow."

The show will be open to the public from 1 to 10 p.m. on Saturday, August 18 and from noon to 6 p.m. Sunday, August 19. An auction of flowers and vegetables will follow.

There will also be a special demonstration of dry flower arranging at 3 p.m. Saturday, and Japanese style arranging at 2 p.m. Sunday.

General admission is $1 for adults and 25 cents for children 16 and under.

"CHILD'S PLAY" WHAT DOES IT MEAN TO YOU?

Does it imply an easy activity, a mere time wasting nonsense; something that's too un-important to be worthy of adult attention?

If it does, then the time has come for you to revolutionize your thinking. Child's play is anything but frivolous, easy and unimportant. It matters enormously. The way a child plays, the objects with which he plays, his own attitude to his play and that of the adults around him, can color his entire life.

In fact, to a child, play is life, and is fun. Play is the way in which he spends virtually every waking hour, the way he learns about himself and others around him, how to master his environment and to find his place in it.

We know that the child does half of his learning before he is four years old, another 30% before he is eight and only 20% during the remaining years of elementary and secondary education. In other words, almost everything that children learn during the first eight years is learned through play; for a child spends more time at play during this time than in the classroom. A child's play influences his total growth: physical, emotional, intellectual and social growth.

BENEFITS OF PLAY . . . Concentration! Problem Solving! Self-confidence! Language! Curiosity!

How often have you seen children imitating adult activities? That play is learning -- getting a feel of adult responsibilities.

Getting that ball out of the creek may pose a real problem. But it's amazing how much fun children can have finding a solution.

Nailing two boards together successfully, builds confidence to construct a corral for stick horses.

Curiosity leads a child to discover which objects float and which ones sink in the bath.

Quiet games require concentration. Active games develop co-ordination. And with new activities, children learn new words.

Encourage your child's natural creativity. It's o.k. for children to play -- it's part of learning.

PLAY SPACE

There have been so many new and inventive playground ideas, that children's imagination can be stretched at the same time that their muscles are exercised, said Bernice Olson, Wetaskiwin home economist.

Creative and adventurous playgrounds have been successful in Europe, and are only now beginning to catch on in Canada.

Both involve the use of such unusual things as discarded automobile, truck and tractor tires, telephone poles, scrap wood and other building discards, barrels and rope. They can be cheaper to install than conventional metal swings and slides, and they are very sturdy. Best of all they are simple to build and can be made by fathers (and determined mothers)!

Drivers

still drinking

Another 1,102 Alberta motorists lost their drivers licences during June for impaired driving offences bringing the six-month total to 10,292. During May a total of 3,255 drivers lost their licences for impaired driving.

The statistics were compiled by the Motor Vehicles Division and released by Alberta Checkstop which is co-ordinated by the law enforcement division.

Six month suspensions were given to 429 drivers in June with 243 drivers losing their licences for one year. Another 142 motorists had their licences revoked for 36 months while 33 drivers lost their licences for a three-month period. Refusing to take a breathalyzer test cost 255 drivers their licences in June bringing the six-month total in that category to 1,305.

Prior to licence suspension these motorists would have received court fines, and before impaired driving licence suspensions are removed a motorist must attend an impaired drivers course operated by the Alberta Alcoholism and drug abuse commission and co-ordinated by the driver control board.

During June RCMP and Municipal Police forces in Alberta established 2,558 roadside checkpoints and checked 55,363 drivers.

Trend to fewer fatal accidents

Fewer people are dying as a result of accidents in Canada, according to a five year review (1973-1977) of accident fatalities by the Canada Safety Council.

The rate of accidental fatalities per 100,000 population showed a decrease of 1.5% from 59.6 in 1973 to 58.0 in 1977. The total number of accidental fatalities fell from 13,167 to 11,182 during the same period.

But all provinces did not have the same pattern of change. Newfoundland, Nova Scotia, Quebec and Ontario did well, reducing the number of fatalities respectively by 26%, 27%, 21.2% and 16.1%. Alberta and Saskatchewan recorded slight increases while Prince Edward Island showed approximately the same levels in 1973 and 1977. New Brunswick, Manitoba and British Columbia recorded decreases of approximately 13%.

However, the rate of accident fatalities per 100,000 population for Alberta's actually decreased by 9.0%, from 63.1 to 57.4, although the number of fatalities increased. This is due to a rapid growth of the population. Saskatchewan also recorded a very slight drop in its rate. All provinces, the Yukon and the Northwest Territories had lower accidental fatalities rates per 100,000 population in 1977 compared to 1973.

Members and friends who have purchased tickets on the $52 raffle are advised that the first draw scheduled to take place August 4 was postponed until the September 1st. This postponement was authorized by the Attorney General's Department and hopefully will enable the Branch to sell more tickets.

For those who are not aware of the details the tickets are $52 each. Starting September 1st a draw will be made every Saturday night for $500. This will continue each Saturday until August, 1980. A winning ticket is returned to the drum and is eligible for every drawing.

For those members who still have books of "Pay What You Pull" tickets please return them to the office. There is a tremendous demand for them and don't forget Sturgeon General Hospital receives the profits from this one.

Renovating the auditorium is underway with all the materials on order. We're looking at October 1st for the completion target date.

The column "The Good News This Week" prepared by the St. Albert Ministerial Association was not available at press time.

Former principal says 'no thanks'

Macdonald's days with Board are over

Sturgeon Composite High School's former principal, Bill MacDonald, isn't working for the Sturgeon Division School Board anymore.

A staffing report at the board's last meeting revealed that Mr. MacDonald has turned down an offer to teach at Camilla School.

In a phone interview, the former principal confirmed that he'd rejected the offer but wouldn't say why or what his future plans are.

The offer resulted from a decision by the board last spring not to renew Mr. MacDonald's contract as principal at the high school. He had been acting principal.

The trustees' decision led to a storm of protests from teachers, students and parents. The reason for the board's decision is still unknown.

The board's superintendent, Frank Robinson, said he didn't know why Mr. MacDonald had turned down the teaching position at Camilla. "We got a letter from him that simply said he was refusing our offer," he said.

Sturgeon Composite's new acting principal is Norval Horner, brother to Dr. Hugh Horner, the Deputy Premier, and Jack Horner, former federal Cabinet minister.

Grain movement task force named

Transport and Wheat Board Minister Don Mazankowski recently named a three-man task force to make recommendations for implementing an emergency program on grain movement in Western Canada.

The task force, headed by Jack Murta, MP for Lisgar, will be asked to make a preliminary report by August 25th and its final recommendations by Nov. 30, 1979.

Other members of the task force are Bill McKnight, MP for Kindersley-Lloydminster, and Stan Schellenberger, MP for Wetaskiwin.

The task force will make recommendations on appointment of a grain transportation co-ordinator including his powers and duties.

It will examine numerous studies into grain handling problems, including the Grain Transportation and Handling in Western Canada report released earlier this week.

The task force also will meet with individuals and groups representing the grain and transportation industries to explore conventional and non-conventional means of moving grain.

Mr. Mazankowski said he wants the task force to be innovative and imaginative, and has asked it to examine every possible technique and every combination of modes and systems to facilitate the greater movement of grain. As well, it will examine the current block shipping system and car interchanges.

The task force will explore various physical and operational changes such as car allocation procedures, extended hours of operation, seven-day unloading capability, improved country elevator loading flexibility, inland cleaning, and improved car turn-around time, all designed to utilize the system more fully.

Mr. Mazankowski said he is pleased the three western MPs have undertaken the task.

"All three are keenly interested in the grain trade and recognize its importance to the West," Mr. Mazankowski said. "This is not a study group, it's an action group," the minister declared.

Mr. Murta, who farms at Graysville, Man., has been a member of Parliament since 1970 and has served on agriculture and transportation committees throughout his nine years in Parliament.

Mr. Schellenberger, an agrologist, has been a member of Parliament since 1972 and has also served extensively on agriculture and transportation committees.

Mr. McKnight was first elected in the May 22 general election. He is a wheat grower and businessman, who has served in executive positions with the Saskatchewan Wheat Pool and United Grain Growers, and is a member of the Saskatchewan Stockgrowers Association.

Mr. Mazankowski said that improving Canada's grain export capability is his first priority as Minister responsible for the Canadian Wheat Board.

The minister announced earlier this week that a restructured government negotiating committee has resumed negotiations with a consortium of grain companies on the question of constructing a major new terminal facility at Prince Rupert. Mr. Mazankowski said he hopes agreement in principle can be achieved within a matter of weeks.

However, Mr. Mazankowski added, any new terminal facility will not be in operation for several years.

He said he expects the task force on grain movement can make recommendations that will permit increased exports in the shorter term as well as the longer term.

GRIT 'N' BEAR IT!

Rick Goad of Edmonton found it a rough ride on saddle bronc, Dirt Farmer, during Gibbons' Hay Maker Rodeo last weekend. Redwater will be hosting similar events this weekend.

Gibbons to hold country music weekend

Gibbons' Sturgeon River Agricultural Society in co-operation with Royalty Records of Edmonton and CFCW radio is sponsoring a Country Music Weekend, September 8 and 9.

The weekend will kick off Saturday evening with a dance at the Gibbons Arena from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. The band will be Country Sunshine with appearances throughout the evening by R. Harlan Smith, Chris Neilsen, Wilf Ingersol, Laura Vinsen and Jimmy Arthur Orde. Refreshments will be served and advance tickets are $5 per person.

The money will be used to help alleviate the arena's $27,000 deficit. Society spokesman, Lorraine Isley, said that the amount represents an annual payment to the federal government the Society was unable to make. Operating costs were higher this year and as the arena is not run with tax money, it must find its own source of funds. Events like a rodeo and fair this year lost money, but the music weekend, she said, should be able to eliminate the debt or at least get a good start on it.

LENDING A HELPING HAND

Rodeo clown Lee Nilsson knew it was no time for clowning around when Dale Hehr of St. Paul got his hand tangled in his harness during the juniors steer riding event of Gibbon's Hay Maker Rodeo last Saturday. Mr. Nilsson, a rodeo veteran from Candy Heights, Tennessee, managed to free young Dale's hand before any serious injury occurred.

Report calls for more cars

An extensive $600,000 study into grain transportation and handling in Western Canada was recently released. The study by Booz-Allen and Hamilton Inc., calls for massive spending between now and 1985-86 to meet grain export demand in the near future.

Among their proposals were: At least 9,300 more grain hopper cars should be built in the next six years. Of this total 1,900 hopper cars would be ordered for delivery in each of the next four crop years, with a further 1,700 cars to be delivered in 1984-85.

Additional terminal capacity should be constructed at the West Coast. Prince Rupert is the preferred site with a proposed 10 million bushel storage capacity terminal.

To expedite implementation of the recommended improvements, a Grain Transportation Improvement Task Force should be set up. The committee could be comprised of the chief commissioners of the Wheat Board, Canadian Grain Commission, chief executive officers of the Canadian National and Canadian Pacific and two presidents of the six major grain companies.

The report, set up to study ways to improve the capacity of the Western handling system, stepped outside its mandate to urge that railways be paid for the full cost of hauling grain. The report warned that failing to find a way to provide a compensatory return to the railways would cause a lack of capital renewal which will become critical, vitally affecting the grain industry, the railways and other important industries.

The report also noted that the staff responsible for administering the Canadian Wheat Board's block shipping system play a central role in planning and controlling the grain delivery activities of the grain companies and railroads. The consultant team seemed to favor the relocation of the block shipping staff to report to a managing director of the proposed task force or to another body such as the Canadian Grain Commission.

When this study was announced by the previous federal government, it was heralded as the study that would bring forward solid, positive recommendations which could be implemented quickly to improve Canada's grain handling system.

The final report does not appear to be such. It is rather long, has many provisional recommendations, often weak and reflective. The present government has responded with yet another study. Maybe this time fundamental decisions which will lead to absolute action surely will keep Canada's grain moving at maximum capacity until at least 1985.

TO THE EDITOR

It was with great respect for the Mayor and Council of the Village of Bon Accord when I read of the passing of the Upkeep Bylaw #130 under Section 157 of the Municipal Government Act.

Especially Section 6 of Bylaw No. 130: Noises which would disturb other persons in neighborhoods.

That will make living in a residence there very desirable! Indeed so! It's a very terrible thing to have paid a great deal of money for a home where a person lives, sleeps, rests, or works, for the sheer pleasure of making job and life worthwhile only suddenly to be aroused by the roar of someone's welder outfit or loud, hard rock as a car door is left open. Or by the revving of those mini-bikes or motorcycles or trucks.

While nursing Albert after his cancer surgery last summer, I found my patient grossly disturbed as he rested by careless people.

Many times I had to go out to yell, "shut that damned motor off" or "Can that loud music" or "What kind of blasted idiots are you on your motorcycles?" I had an awful time of it. As if all night duty as well as days isn't bad enough.

Then just as I would like down the "yap, yap, yap" of big dogs, around the crescent south west and west. People just do not smarten up!

There's a senior citizen's residence here too. When I asked for quiet around here there was no aid except for kind neighbors next to us, bless them!

Biggest congratulations Bon Accord! Anyone on special care after illness will sure mend well there. Older and very young people may enjoy peace.

A writer like me, ought to have my residence there too! Especially since I read about Bylaw #130.

Beef information centre defends beef price increases in newsletter

Misconception - Beef prices have risen unrealistically high and are out of proportion with other meats and with incomes.

Fact - Beef prices have risen quite dramatically in the past year. Between March 1978 - 1979, beef prices have advanced 53.5 percent. This increase appears to be out of proportion to other foods only because beef prices from 1975 - 1977 were very depressed. Much of the price advance over the past year has been price recovery. Between 1974 and early 1977, beef prices actually declined 18 percent. We can get a better perspective by looking at the price change since 1971 and we will find that beef price increases are in line with other meats - Beef up 169 percent, fish up 169 percent, poultry up 157 percent, pork up 150 percent. These figures are taken from Statistics Canada for March 1979.

In terms of disposable income, Canadians are spending the same percentage of their disposable income on beef (2.5 percent) as they did in 1950 and they're eating almost twice as much beef.

Misconception - A beef boycott will lower prices.

Fact - Boycotts will eventually cause beef prices to go even higher.

A beef boycott will have little short term effect on beef prices. Beef trades on a North American market and prices here are influenced by U.S. prices which are currently very strong. If our prices declined somewhat, it would encourage American buyers to purchase here and our market would again strengthen.

The major effect a boycott would have, would be to discourage producers from building up their cow herds. Any failure to rebuild herds at this time will mean continuing lower supplies of beef and ever-increasing prices over the next few years.

In addition, boycotting meats over a certain price per pound is false economy. A beef rump roast is $2.66/lb. yields 3 1/2 servings per pound at a cost/serving of 76¢. A whole chicken at $1.18/lb. yields 1 1/2 servings/lb. at a cost per serving of 91¢. Even if the chicken was purchased on sale at 89¢/lb., the cost/serving is 68¢. Compare this to a blade roast purchased at the regular price of $1.88 which yields 3 servings/lb. - a cost/serving of 63¢.

Misconception - Someone in the beef industry is gouging the consumer and making excessive profits.

Fact - The facts don't support such a claim. Many studies have been made which simply do not support this allegation.

A 68 percent national average of the consumer dollar goes to the producer. Most cattle feeders are making a reasonable profit at the present time. However, they must recoup the losses they suffered through three years of low beef prices. In addition, their cost of production has escalated along with inflation. A big factor today is the cost of replacement cattle. While the feedlot operator is now getting a higher price when he markets his cattle, the cost of replacing those cattle has doubled in the past year.

The packer gets only four percent (national average) of the consumer dollar on beef. This includes the value of the by-products. Due to the decreased volume of beef going through their plants, many packers are currently losing money on their beef operations.

The retailer receives 28 percent (nationally) of the consumer dollar. Mark-ups on beef vary considerably from store to store and from city to city depending on competition, wages, overhead costs, methods of trimming, and more. The average mark-up in Canadian retail chains for the first week of May was 80¢/lb., ranging from a low of 65¢ lb. in Toronto to a high of 92¢/lb. in Winnipeg. Retailers have increased their margin by 13¢/lb. from the same week one year ago but on a reduced volume.

Misconception - The producer should increase supplies immediately so that prices will drop by next year.

Fact - Beef producers are now responding to higher prices and are starting to rebuild their herds. However, it's a long process and we will not see an appreciable increase in beef supplies for another two to three years. The producer must first decide to retain more cows and heifers in the herd. This will temporarily reduce supplies further because more heifers will be held for breeding rather than being finished for market. From the time the decision is made to increase the breeding herd, until the resulting calf is ready for market, approximately three years will elapse.

There are several ways to stretch your beef dollar:

1. Compare prices and shop on a cost/serving basis rather than price per pound.

2. Consider bulk buying - at the present time, it can save you 20 to 30¢ per pound.

3. Make more use of less expensive cuts - they have the same nutritional value and are just as tender and tasty when properly cooked.

4. Learn how to substitute cheaper cuts in your recipes.

5. Buy large cuts and divide into several meals. Steaks can often be obtained this way at great price reductions.

The Beef Information Centre's booklet, "Stretch Your Beef Dollar" is filled with money-saving tips and instructions for cutting several roasts. Consumers can obtain their free copy by writing to their nearest B.I.C. office: 118-11th Ave. S.E., Calgary.

Farming costs continue to rise

Unifarm's monthly report Farm Trends carried an interesting price list in its July issue. The prices, compiled by Market Surveys Ltd. for Alberta Agriculture compared the prices of June 1978 with May and June 1979.

Few need be told that the price of almost everything has increased substantially but not everything listed did. Feed barley and seed barley were both cheaper in June 1979 than a year earlier. That's fine for the buyer but it doesn't help the grower any. The prices dropped from $1.56 bu. (feed) and $4.51 bu. (seed) to $1.52 and $4.48 respectively.

The only other price listed which was less in 1979 than 1978 was that for a 1 1/2" x 70" V belt. The belt you bought for $6.30 a year ago could be had for $5.98 in June. Trouble with belts is they don't co-operate and break when the price is down.

Price increases on other goods listed ranged from one percent on good quality baled hay to 24% for cement. Other 'highlights' were fir plywood (17%), 60/70 amp 12 volt batteries (17.4%), baler twine (15.8%), tractors - 100 hp (17.5%), 170hp (19.6%), combines (21.6%), cultivators (17.6%), hog concentrate (16.4%), Fertilizer - 34-0-0 (15%), 11-48-0 (19.5%) and penicillin (23.4%).

At the low end of the increases were farm inputs produced by other farmers, and propane (1.8%).

Group effort leads to new magazine

The first issue of Canada's newest magazine for hog producers and marketers, the Western Hog Journal, is now on its way to 40,000 homes across the four western provinces.

The magazine is the joint publication of the Manitoba Hog Producers Marketing Board, the Saskatchewan Hog Marketing Commission and the Alberta Pork Producers Marketing Board.

In Alberta, the Western Hog Journal replaces the Alberta Hog Journal which has been published by the Alberta Board for the past seven and one half years. Most British Columbia hog producers will also receive the new magazine through an arrangement with the B.C. Swine Breeders Association.

The purpose of the Western Hog Journal, a quarterly publication, is to keep producers informed on production and marketing matters affecting their industry. It is not a news magazine but rather one which will include such regular features as market outlook, health and nutrition, buildings, overall swine management, and industry policy concerns.

Circulation is controlled including all hog producers in the three Prairie provinces, government extension and research workers at both the federal and provincial levels, commercial firms serving the swine industry, members of the farm and other media and advertising agencies. First issue circulation totals 22,100 in Alberta and B.C., 5,707 in Saskatchewan and 12,200 in Manitoba.

Editorial co-ordination, advertising, production and printing will take place in Edmonton under the direction of Editor, Ed Schultz, and Advertising Manager, Bill Owen, in the offices of the Alberta Pork Producers Marketing Board.

Electronic identification

Identifying 23 million Canadians is hard enough, even though we have names. Keeping track of the nation's 23 million cattle, hogs and sheep, is even harder. Because they don't have any natural means of identification, animals must be branded, ear-tagged, ear notched or tattooed so farmers, veterinarians and processors know who's who.

The variety of identification systems adds confusion, and none is suited to automation or computerization. A federally-funded development project now in the final planning stages could make future livestock identification easier, more accurate, and more efficient.

A contract is being negotiated with Sensory Systems Laboratory of Edmonton to develop an electronic identification system for livestock. Basically, the system involves a coded electronic chip, called a transponder, which is attached to the animal's ear or implanted under its skin, and an interrogator, which can electronically read the code in the transponder at some distance. Dr. Wilbert Lentz, a geneticist in Agriculture Canada's livestock division in Ottawa, has played a central role in getting the project started.

The system to be developed by Sensory Systems

Laboratory could be used with both cattle and swine. It will offer enough different codes to uniquely identify every animal in North America for at least a century. And, it will stay with the animal right through the marketing chain, including carcass identification in the abattoir.

Dr. Lentz noted that the system will first be developed for swine. "The system for hogs will employ eartags about the size of a quarter, although the electronics will undoubtedly be miniaturized in the future," Dr. Lentz says. The interrogator will be able to read the eartag at a distance of at least two meters. It could either display the identification, or feed it directly into a computer.

The initial field trial results from the Sensory Systems project will likely be available by mid-1980.

U of A Club hosting IASAA conference

The University of Alberta Agriculture Club is hosting the eighth annual International Agricultural Students Association of the Americas (IASAA) Conference from August 12 to 17.

The theme for this six day conference will be "Conflicts in Land Use." Topics of discussion will include conflicts between urban and industrial development, recreation, resource development and agriculture.

Guest speakers include authorities from business, government, and universities, such as Cy McAndrews, assistant deputy minister of development; Dr. Rainer Schickele of Berkeley, California; and Dr. Kare Hellum of the University of Alberta.

Also included in the agenda are tours to various sites around Edmonton which will give the delegates an insight into the agricultural practices employed in Alberta. Many of the delegates will be from parts of Canada and the U.S. where our type of agriculture is unknown.

I.A.S.A.A. is an international students organization set up to promote knowledge and understanding of agriculture throughout North America. Its member schools are from all over the continent, but delegates to previous conferences have come from as far away as Tanzania.

The Agriculture Club at the U of A is proud to be a member of this association and is doubly proud to be hosting this year's conference, in the Lister Hall complex at the university.

When staff photographer Al Popil was in Morinville recently he made a stop at the local gaming hall where about 200 bingo veterans were gathered for a night of numbers. Selecting the right bingo chips for the upcoming go-go series is Lena Craze, 73 (above) of Legal while Jim Hagen, 90, of Morinville feels the heat of the continuing series. An unidentified woman takes time for a smoke break while an ambidextrous Helen Gourd of Clyde has a snack during the jackpot competition. Before the night was over the players' tables were littered with the evening's debris.

Morinville Brownies go to camp

By Irene Locher

On July 27, the 2nd Morinville Brownie Pack left for Sandy Lake for a three day stay at Trefoil House.

It was a most enjoyable weekend for everyone. Nine Brownies attended, three leaders, two moms and one staff child. It was a weekend of exploring, observing, learning to make a backpack, building a fire, outdoor conservation, saskatoon picking and just plain old fun.

The girls earned four badges each that weekend. For some girls it was a first camp away from family but by the end of the weekend, we felt like one big family. The girls all had their chores to do and no one complained.

It was difficult getting 10 girls to sleep though. It started to rain Saturday night and continued until we left Sunday afternoon, but it didn't dampen anyone's spirits. There were a lot of crafts to keep the girls busy.

On Saturday, we were visited by Mrs. Evelyn Fraser and Mrs. Ilene Sprague, camp advisors from Gibbons. They came to test me for my Resident Campers Licence.

It turned out to be a great camp and I would like to thank the parents who helped drive the girls to camp and the ones who picked their girls up.

Also a big thank you to Mrs. Maria Jan who came as our cook, even though she has no children in Brownies, and to Barbara Scott, also our cook, who took time off from work to attend our camp. They both did a great job. The food was terrific and a big thank you to Karen Bell (Snowy Owl) and Anita Gustafson (Tawny Owl) who never complained once all weekend with the endless tasks they had to do.

I would like to thank the girls for the lovely gift they presented me with at camp. It was much appreciated.

FETE AU VILLAGE SUMMING UP

A warm sunny day and a free pancake breakfast sponsored by the Legal Lions Club brought out approximately 540 children and adults on Saturday, July 28 to kick off the annual Fete au Village. Hundreds of people lined the parade route to enjoy some 32 entries.

Parade entries included representation from Westlock, Gibbons, St. Albert, Morinville as well as local entries. They were led by the Clan MacNaughton Bagpipers from Edmonton. First prize float went to Legal Summer Playground - Recreation, second to Taxi-dermis and third to Legal Co-op.

After the parade everyone gathered at the fair grounds to await the arrival of three parachuters, members of the Edmonton Parachute Club, to open the grounds. Following the parachute drop, baseball got underway with eight teams participating in the tournament.

Saturday afternoon also saw a new event - "Operation Tractor," which consists of tractor driving and safety skills competition. Winners of the competition were: first, Dave Nonay - Legal; second, Melvin Clack - St. Albert and third, Germain Fortier - Vimy.

The day was filled with many activities for the children, such as frog jumping won by Martin Pelletier, tricycle races, won by Chantle Volorney and bubble gum chewing contests for all ages. There was also judging of crafts and baking, all of which took home ribbons. Thanks to all who took the time to bring an article to put on display.

Later in the afternoon several men challenged each other in a horseshoe tournament finally won by Ralph Boisvert. Others tried their hand at log sawing, bale stacking and bag tying.

Five o'clock brought the smell of barbecued steaks which a lot of people enjoyed. Then came the special event of the day, the homecoming of the past Mlle Fete au Village queens, M.C. Michelle Nault introduced all the queens. Each queen was presented a bouquet of flowers by the present Mlle Fete au Village, Marlene Champagne, and given the crown to wear while she gave a short resume on what she had done since her reign.

The queens were also presented an engraved spoon and a "Fete au Village" glass on behalf of the Recreation Board as a memory of the occasion. All the previous managers of the queens were given a corsage presented by Donna Lessard, recreation board member. The title of Mlle. Fete au Village for the 1979-80 season will be retained by Marlene Champagne, daughter of Real and Gaetane Champagne.

Later the arena filled to full capacity for the beer gardens and dancing to the music of "Starlites."

Sunday started out with church services but the remaining events had to be cancelled due to the heavy rain which persisted. Organizers and participants were disappointed but pointed out that Fete au Village had never before experienced cancellation due to inclement weather in its 17 years of existence. Mayor Marcel Dube, along with the Recreation Board, would like to thank the many organizations and volunteers who came and helped to make a success of Fete au Village.

A special thanks goes to Angie and Connie Auger for their entertainment on short notice and also to Bonnie Pelletier for playing the bagpipes and to Marlene Champagne for playing the organ.

THANK YOU

Sincere thanks to those who so kindly responded to the call for help to cut grass and trim around the trees in the Club 60 Roses Park.

SNOWBIRDS VISIT

On July 26 approximately 150 people came to watch professional fastball when the Edmonton ladies fastball team, the Snowbirds, played against an American team for the championship, in a doubleheader. Everyone enjoyed the evening of good fastball in spite of the fact that the Snowbirds lost both games.

RAFFLE WINNERS

Winners of the Legal Lions Club raffle were: first prize a 16 ft. fiberglass canoe, Bill Venables of Sherwood Park; second prize a 9 x 12 tent, Maurice Giguere; and third prize a sleeping bag, Bob Pelletier of Legal. The Lions Club wish to thank everyone who supported their raffle by purchasing tickets. Proceeds go to help minor baseball.

Alcomdale news

By Beryl Bailey

Mrs. J. M. Bailey spent about a week early in July at the home of her niece, Mrs. R. Post, Penhold. A family party was held July 12 to celebrate her great niece's birthday, Miss Deborah Post, who was 21 that day. During her visit, Mrs. Bailey took her niece and two children, Debbie and Danny to meet her aunt, Mrs. W. Bill who lives in Red Deer. Mrs. Bill hadn't met these relatives of hers before, as they didn't know she lived there, as they moved here from Ontario one year ago. They enjoyed tea with Mrs. Bill and the group encompassed four generations: a niece, great-niece and great, great niece. Mrs. Bill celebrated her 86th birthday last April, is very active and lives in an apartment with one of her sons. She has five sons and five daughters, many of them living in the Red Deer area.

With school ending the end of June many families have been enjoying weekends at the various lakes. Among them were the Lloyd Congdons with their three sons, who spent the holiday weekend at a lake. The Carl Morens had a week's holiday recently with their camper at Goose and Sandy Lakes. Mr. and Mrs. J. Doidge accompanied by their three children went to B.C. with trailer and had a most enjoyable trip. They travelled from here to the Okanagan via the Yellowhead Pass, Salmon Arm, and ended up in a nice campsite in the Okanagan Valley by a lovely lake, Green Bay Resort. From there they drove to many other points in the valley, returning home via Trans Canada Highway to Calgary and Edmonton.

Mr. and Mrs. Allan Campbell had Mr. Campbell's cousin, Mrs. Betty Kruse of Edmonton as a house guest recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Dan Brenneis spent a few days the weekend of July 14 at Three Hills, where they attended the 25th wedding anniversary party of Mrs. Brenneis' sister and brother-in-law,

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Kopjar. Other members of the Borle family also attended the happy event. Mrs. Kopjar was the former Melba Borle before her marriage.

Heat waves seem to be the order of the day this summer. Heavy rains followed by excessive heat occurring during the past month or so have brought on crops and to some extent garden produce. However, in low lying garden spots produce has been cooked and/or drowned.

Mr. and Mrs. James Doidge had a pleasant surprise recently when friends from Palma, Majorca, Spain, came for a short visit. Mr. and Mrs. Brian Fincher, formerly of England but who have lived in Spain for many years met the Doidges when they were in that country for two years. Mr. Doidge was employed by an oil company during that period. The Finchers arrived via train in Edmonton and were going to Toronto to visit relatives whom they hadn't seen for several decades.

Recycling - the modern scene

By Margarette J. Atkinson
Isn't it wonderful to see processes of recycling going on all over the place?

It sort of puts me in mind of months just previous to the Second World War. Suddenly word went around, "Take the foil, from any cigarette or tobacco package and save it into a big ball!"

The foil wrap during the twenties and thirties was not at all like aluminum foil of today's world. Its consistency was mainly lead, therefore it could be melted or squashed into any form, as it was not 'crispy' like today's foil.

So all across our country large balls of foil were shipped out in the empty gravel cars, left for the collection of metals of all types and these lead-foil balls. Everyone, in every village or town received these railway cars for people to fill.

Now our modern highways and trucks which bring all sorts of consumer goods take back with them cardboard, all compressed into neat bundles by grocery stores, hardware and other dealers, or cardboard cartons which residents flatten and then bundle up. There's also people bundling up papers for children's groups to sell or for adult financing programs.

But one special thing really amazed me as I was driving toward Edmonton on Highway 28. Trees had been cut down by Calgary Power and other brush had been left to dry in piles along the ditches.

A large machine was "chomping" up all of this brush and tops off of trees. The resulting "chips" were flying out the end of a long spout and filling the large truck, to be hauled possibly to make aspenite or some type of wallboard or even perhaps pulp for some other product. (Just like a threshing machine did).

What a wonderful ideal! No damaging, health-destroying smoke or the waste of burning it. Recycling was taking place along our highways.

Seeing people and kids doing all this recycling as well as aiding at picking up litter, putting out burning barrels etc. (now we have the bylaws), sure makes one realize how nice folks really are now. And, it's getting to be a trend. Yes, it really is!

It sure makes the whole place a world of fresh clean air, clean streets and kids who care!

TOUCHDOWN

Winnipeg-Air cadet Trent McHardy, 17, of Gibbons, Alberta touches down after completing his first solo flight in a glider at the Cadet Gliding School in Rivers, Manitoba. The son of Mr. and Mrs. James McHardy of Gibbons, Alberta, he is one of the 72 cadets undergoing glider-pilot training this summer.

Embryonic travellers

Jetting pedigree cattle around the world is expensive, so cattle breeders now are looking at international embryo transfers as an alternative.

Hundreds of embryos could potentially be moved in one suitcase at very little cost. While such long-distance embryo transfers are still in the experimental stage, the needed technology is improving and cutting costs.

The federal government has also cleared the way to such exports by amending the federal animal disease regulations. Embryo transfer clinics now are inspected to make sure they meet internationally-agreed standards for hygiene and disease control.

Winter wheat killer

From Wheat Pool Budget

A plant pathologist at the Lacombe Research Station has discovered what kills winter wheat crops. It is not, as previously thought, the extreme cold that is the killer - it's a fungus.

Pathologist Lou Piening suspected a fungus and tested his theory by applying a fungicide to test plots of winter wheat and rye after the plants had emerged from the soil. The fungicide simply killed the disease producing organism and there were no plant losses the following spring.

The fungicide application would be neither environmentally nor economically acceptable on a large scale, but confirmed the role of a low temperature fungus in killing winter crops. Work is being conducted on development of crop varieties resistant to the fungus.

Bon Accord News

By Sadie Allen

THRESHING DEMONSTRATION

The first stage in the preparation for the old time threshing demonstration slated for Saturday, August 18 at the Bon Accord Rec. grounds got underway in the field of barley belonging to Irwin Strawson west of the school.

A crowd of interested spectators ranging in age from two to 80 gathered to see the binding of sheaves for the threshing display. An oldtime binder loaned by Doug Lesyk and manned by Bob Putnam, although a bit balky at first and refusing to tie the bundles, finally was put in order by the many helping hands and did a masterful job.

Those bundles were quickly tied by old time masters of the trade, Elmer Brennan, John Bland, George Carleton and George McRobbie, using strands of grain to fashion ties for the bundles. Stooking was quickly completed with the youngsters taking an active part alongside the experienced hands. An especially adept pair were John Bland and granddaughter Karen.

More for your money

All steers are not born equal -- some are more efficient than others at converting feed to beef and reaching market weight faster.

But studies at Agriculture Canada's research station at Melfort, Sask., show that slow-gaining steers can become faster weight-gainers by using double the normal amount of growth hormone usually used in feedlot steers.

The double-implemented steers gained more weight than did single implanted steers during the test period. They also graded better, providing the producer with better returns.

Redwater plant celebration a success

Redwater Fertilizer plant's dual celebration commemorating one million man hours without injury and the plant's 10th anniversary on Sunday can only be classed as an unqualified success.

Over 550 people turned up for the plant tour held from noon to 3 p.m. and 650 arrived, appetite in hand, for the barbecue from 4 to 7 p.m. at the Red Barn near Bon Accord.

Most people arrived for the tour fairly early, said Gerry Lydsman, administrative assistant to the general manager, so organizers started before noon and continued it well past the 3 p.m.

cut-off. All plants were in operation except for the nitric acid plant which was shut down for safety reasons. The children were particularly enthralled with the tour said Mr. Lydsman.

About 300 turned out and all received caps bearing the plant name and promoting one million man hours without injury. "They all asked fairly sensible questions about the operations at the plant, but they seemed particularly interested in the control room," he said. "It's fairly elaborate and some said it reminded them of Star Wars."

Montreal a Godfather

By John Fisher

If Vancouver has a kindly Godfather it must be Montreal. The name Vancouver was selected by a Montrealer, William Van Horne. The railroad which brought explosive growth to Vancouver was operated from Montreal.

The first Transcontinental train to arrive in Vancouver originated in Montreal and was pulled by CPR 374. What a day that was in the life of Canada when 374 puffed her way into Vancouver. It was May 23, 1887 and everyone who could walk or crawl was out to witness this historic event when the Confederation promise was fulfilled.

This arrival in Vancouver should not be confused with the CPR first Transcontinental which arrived at Port Moody on July 4, 1886. The extension to Vancouver had not been completed and it was almost a year later before the Montreal-Vancouver service started.

This historic old engine #374 with her arrogant cow catcher and mushroom capped smokestack proudly sits in Kitsilano Beach Vancouver for all to see and marvel at this exciting chapter in Canada's history.

John Fisher, Executive Vice President of the Council for Canadian Unity was Canada's Centennial Commissioner.

Park Patter from Evergreen

BACK FOR VISIT

It was nice to see Gary Milner back visiting in the Park. He used to be in the sales office.

NICE HOMES

It is amazing to see the ideas people have to make their mobiles and lots attractive. Over in the 600 block we saw a wishing well surrounded by flowers. There is going to be the most beautiful array of glads over there too.

Another home has most attractive window boxes; they have used plastic decorator fencing for adornment. We saw another mobile that is almost palatial, with patio lights and redwood furniture.

The terraced effect that people achieve with bricks and stone in such small spaces is really pretty. The front of another home is a mass of pansies. Makes one feel like rushing home and grabbing a spade and fertilizer.

ROADS

It seems that Park residents are not alone where concern for roads is important. Mr. Jim Ward seems to realize the folly of "putting off till tomorrow."

The activity on the old "Triple S" is a welcome sight. The road is closed from the Park entrance west along Oliver Avenue. It is expected that it will be finished by September.

HOME FROM HOLIDAYS

The Myson family are back from vacation, hopefully well rested.

TOP SOIL

There is still top soil in the green belt for anyone getting ready for fall planting.

DRIVING WITH CARE

There are many many small folk in our Park. They are the busiest little things in the world. They are on bikes, trikes and running.

Since it's vacation time, it's visitor time, and we have a lot more vehicles parking on the streets. For their sake and your own, take good care, take a good look and take your time.

HOME DELIVERY

As of this week the Gazette will be delivered to your door. This service is prepaid and the carriers will not be collecting.

Your news and announcements, get well wishes and welcomes are what Park Patter is all about. Just give us your news and views by calling 973-7769.

SUMMER GAMES LEFTOVERS . . . last week I didn't have enough room for the bouquets I had in mind.

To start it off, everyone running individual sports did a super job, plus all the people involved in the opening ceremonies, the feeding and the busing were equal to the task.

But a couple of people deserve huge thanks for a job well done. Dick Fowler and Lorne Wood were everywhere they had to be, and elsewhere even though they didn't have to be. Their leadership and organizational skills were what made the Summer Games fantastic.

The media results center did a splendid job of providing results. If you read the two Edmonton dailies, you would have noticed they managed to give a fair amount of Games coverage. The results center, under the direction of Don Lavoy, was largely responsible for such coverage.

If I have forgotten anyone, please forgive me. My publisher keeps reminding me of the cost of newsprint.

GETTING IT OFF MY CHEST . . . What really burns me up when it comes to money for sports is the archaic laws this damn province has in regard to liquor companies.

The Alberta Liquor Control Board laws are STUPID! They prevent companies like Carling O'Keefe, Molson's and Labatt's from getting involved to the fullest in the sports events they sponsor.

When the province puts in more money for sports than the beer companies do, then they can make their laws.

Did you know that amateur sports in Canada is a result of the hard work and piles of bucks from people like the three breweries named above?

I'd love to know the figures they spend on sports in this province.

It would blow your mind.

In this day and age, and with all the money Alberta has, it's disgusting at what Alberta spends on sports. The province spends the least amount of money on school athletic programs per student than any province in Canada for one example.

It burns me up when amateur sports have to rely on people like the breweries for funding, knowing full well that the province probably would never come through with a penny.

It burns me up when many say beer is not good for your tummy, which it isn't, but at the same time, the beer companies are spending all this money to get my bloated gut down to size.

I guess I feel a little better when I tip an Alta 3.9 knowing Carling O'Keefe is sponsoring some sports event in which I'll take part in.

But then I get to thinking about these stupid laws of the ALCB. They restrict advertising in certain places, they restrict wording for brewery sponsored sports events. For example, you can't say the Molson St. Albert Schlockey Tournament, even though Molson may have sunk an awful lot of money and prizes into the event. You must say, according to the ALCB, "The St. Albert Schlockey Tournament for the Molson Award."

Big deal, ALCB. You're just another nitpicking bureaucratic farce.

I could go into some other instances, but I won't for now.

Maybe I'll start bothering some of the MLA's into getting off their butts. Maybe they'll at least look into it. Maybe they won't.

The situation, however, probably won't change.

We'll still have to abide by the rules of the ALCB, even though they are archaic, old-fashioned senseless, etc.

But just to make the ALCB mad . . . Carling O'Keefe, Molson, Labatt's, Carling O'Keefe, Molson, Labatt's, Carling O'Keefe, Molson, Labatt's. Drink the beer and enjoy the sports.

I EAT MY WORDS . . . not too long ago I wrote that the luring of Graham Leggat to the Edmonton Drillers of the North American Soccer League was just a rumor, at least that's what my source in the Drillers organization said.

Well, up until that time it was true. But about one week later, Driller owner Peter Pocklington did in fact phone Leggat. Leggat came to Edmonton to talk with Peter anyway, and also took in a home game. Leggat decided, and I would imagine a hell of an offer helped, to move from the confines of Hogtown to the pure and exciting west after seeing the spirit of Edmonton Driller fans, even in a downpour.

The hiring of Leggat to a five year deal is one of the best things that the Drillers could possibly do.

Leggat is top notch, and next year's edition of the Drillers will prove that.

St. Albert plays .500 at Lacrosse Nationals

St. Albert Toros, the first St. Albert team ever to compete in the lacrosse national championships, exceeded all expectations by winning two games of the four they played in the week-long event, held this year at Delta, B.C.

The bantam Toros went to British Columbia disappointed about a last minute decision by the organizers to alleviate them from their C division status, to the B division, which pitted them against much more experienced clubs from B.C. and Ontario. Of 28 teams in the tournament, 12 were ranked as B level, including Edmonton Gold Bar and St. Albert. The only other Alberta club was South Edmonton, entered in the C division.

The surprise switch to the B division, on highly questionable grounds, was made more difficult when St. Albert found themselves up

B.C. captures western soccer title

The representative team from British Columbia, Vancouver's Grandview Legion, came out on top of the four team Western Canadian Under 16 Soccer Championships held in St. Albert on the weekend.

The Grandview squad ended up tied in first place with the Alberta team, Calgary Blizzard, but had a much better goal difference record. Grandview and Calgary each had two wins and one tie, while Saskatchewan's Whitmore Whitecaps of Regina had one win and two losses. The other team in the competition, Manitoba's St. Joseph's from Winnipeg, lost all three games in the round robin format.

The first game, played Friday evening at Simpson field, saw Grandview and Calgary tie at 1-1. Strong goaltending by B.C.'s Mike North and Alberta's Mike Fredrich kept the goals down, while providing some very entertaining action.

The other Friday game had Saskatchewan edge Manitoba 3-2.

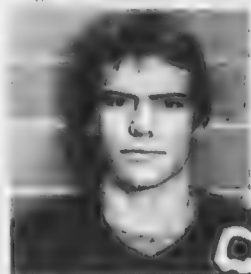

On Saturday, B.C. blanked Manitoba 5-0, while Alberta

outscored Saskatchewan 7-4. Sunday's games featured Please Turn to Page B14

Messier selected by Oilers in junior draft

By Larry Mitchell

Ex-St. Albert Junior Saints star Mark Messier was selected in the third round of the National Hockey League junior draft held last Thursday by the Edmonton Oilers, one of four new teams in the league this season.

MARK MESSIER

Oilers first pick and the 21st overall was defenseman Kevin Lowe from the Quebec

Ramparts of the Quebec Major Junior League. Lowe, 6'1" and weighing close to 200 pounds, was the second highest scorer on the Ramparts with 86 points including 26 goals and also spent 120 minutes in the penalty box. Oilers did not have a second round pick due to a previous deal with Minnesota North Stars where they received permission to try and sign Dave Semenko. Messier was no doubt the outstanding 17 year old in the Alberta Junior Hockey League last season where he played 13 games before accepting a try-out with the Indianapolis Racers of the now defunct World Hockey Association.

Mark played his allotted five games with the Racers before returning home. The Racers' club was not in the best of financial shape and later folded.

Messier played four more games with the Junior Saints before signing a reported three year contract with the W.H.A. Cincinnati Stingers.

In 17 games with St. Albert, Messier chalked up 33 points, 15 of which were goals. He had 64 minutes in penalties. He was also the team's captain.

In 47 games with Cincinnati, Messier scored one goal and added 10 assists while drawing 58 minutes in penalties. Although the points were slow in coming, Messier played very well defensively, a specialty he displayed throughout his junior career, and finished strongly.

Mark should be capable of performing in an Oiler uniform this season.

A THIEF IN ACTION

Calgary Blizzard Leslie Allen (9) has the ball stolen from his feet by this unidentified St. Joseph's player (from Manitoba) during action in the Western Canadian Under 16 Soccer Championships held in St. Albert on the weekend. Calgary and the B.C. team Grandview Legion of Vancouver tied in points for first place in the tourney, but both will advance to the Canadian finals in Denver next weekend.

Junior Saints pleased with schedule

Jack Reid, director of hockey operations, and coach Doug Messier, are more than pleased with their upcoming exhibition and Alberta Junior Hockey League schedule.

The announcement came following the release of the A.J.H.L. schedule and the confirmation of the nine game pre-season exhibition set up.

The first of the exhibition schedule kicks off on the 31st of August with a game between ex-Spruce Grove Mets and Junior Saints that have gone on to play pro hockey against last year's Saint team, which will have a number of players who graduated last season. A get-together following the game at the Sawmill Restaurant will finish off the evening.

Training camp opens September 8 with the inter squad game set for the 14th at Akinsdale Arena in St. Albert.

Saints will then play a total of eight exhibition games in 10 days with the opener in St. Albert against the Sherwood Park Crusaders Sept. 15.

Great Falls Americans (formerly the Edmonton Oil Kings) will be here on the 16th, while on the 20th the Saints will be in Sherwood Park.

Calgary Canucks will be here on the 22nd with the next two games being a home and away series with Red Deer Rustlers starting in Red Deer on the 23rd and back at home the following night.

The final two games will be against the rival Fort Saskatchewan Traders with the opener in St. Albert on the 26th and back in the Fort on the 27th.

Saints are putting together a number of special nights for their many fans and dates and other information will be published as soon as arrangements have been finalized.

Saints will open the A.J.H.L. schedule away from home for their first two games as they will be in Red Deer Sunday, Sept. 30 and

KC's win Sturgeon fastball title

Spruce Grove KC's broke a string of five straight Sturgeon Valley Men's fastball league championships by the Stony Plain Playboys recently when they defeated Stony Plain Kings two straight in the A finals of the top notch league.

Garden Valley Raiders pulled off a major upset when they took the powerful Devon club in three games to win the B event. Devon won the opener 3-0 but then had more than they could handle as the Raiders took the next two by scores of 6-2 and 6-4.

Calahoo ball tournament and barbecue this weekend

The annual Calahoo Sports Association ball tournament and beef barbecue will be held this weekend in Calahoo and fastball fans will be treated to some top action.

Sixteen men's and eight ladies teams are expected to enter with some $1,500 in prize money up for grabs.

A couple of teams are still required in both divisions to complete the draw and anyone interested in entering a team can call Emile Berube at 458-2136 or 459-5645.

The ladies are expected to Thursday, Oct. 4 in Sherwood Park.

St. Albert's home opener will be Saturday, October 6 against Taber Golden Suns and is the first of 30 games at Akinsdale.

Taber, Calgary Canucks, Calgary Spurs (Chinooks), and the Drumheller Falcons (new entry) will be in St. Albert three times while the Sherwood Park Crusaders, Fort Traders and Red Deer Rustlers will make it six times. Saints will return the compliment on their road schedule.

The overnight road trip schedule has also been shortened with the Saints only having three, which will be excellent for the students in their schooling.

Most games will be played on Wednesday and Saturday nights (12 and 11 respectively), with two games each played on either Thursday's, Friday's and Sunday's.

against defending national champions Whitby, Ontario. This was a mis-match, compounded by their recent arrival on a sleepless 17 hour bus trip. Not many observers were surprised by the 22-5 loss by St. Albert, although the gutsy Toros threw a scare into the Ontario team by scoring the first two goals, before giving way to the speedy, skillful easterners. Captain Dave Kendall led Toros with a hat trick, while Stacey Doll and Erin Oor each scored once.

St. Albert coaching staff Bob Lane, Rick Thomson and Stan Romaniuk were somewhat concerned about the demoralizing effect of the loss to Whitby. However, the rested Toros went out the next day determined to show Alberta pride against a powerful club from Burnaby, B.C. taking charge from the first shift the St. Albert boys led throughout the game, finishing with a tremendous 11-8 win. Oor's splendid showing of six goals, Kendall's hat trick, and singles from Lee Carter and Chris Lane constituted the scoring. The magnitude of this win became known the next day when Burnaby defeated the Whitby club 11-9.

St. Albert's final game in the preliminary round was against the top Vancouver bantam B club, Vancouver Killarney, which was favored to qualify for the finals. Toros, once again the underdogs, but with a newly acquired following of fans, played a terrific game, supported by outstanding goaltending from Dave Cole. Once again, they struck first but fell behind by 3-2 after the first period. Each team scored once in the second frame in a strong defensive battle. In the final period, disaster struck Toros in the form of seven penalties, including a five minute major. Vancouver built a 7-3 lead while fans grew increasingly upset by inconsistent officiating. A two goal rally by St. Albert was then squelched by a rash of injuries and two bench penalties, both of which were marginal calls. Vancouver capitalized by collecting three goals in the final moments of the period, and with the 10-5 score qualified for the B division finals.

With four teams in the finals, two of which were met by Toros, the remaining eight B teams each played one consolation round game. Toros were matched up with Saanich 4-A, a top team from Vancouver Island, which earlier had been edged by Edmonton 10-9. Edmonton Gold Bar was also relegated to the consols and was matched against Surrey, B.C.

The Toros game was the best of the series for them. Oor's four goals in the first period put them ahead 4-1. The Saanich club adjusted in the second, however, and recovered to a 7-7 tie. The third frame was very exciting. Inspired by a loud "Toros, Toros" chanting by their new found fans, St. Albert poured in eight goals to come away with a 15-11 win and a two win, two loss record in the national championships. Gold Bar, which lost its consols game, also ended up two and two. In their fourth game, Toros goals came from Kendall with five and Lane with one. Oor ended up with a total of nine goals in the match.

On the final day of the tourney, before the final ceremonies, Toros played an extra "fun" game with their billets from Surrey, B.C. The St. Albert boys played very little lacrosse in this game against their new friends and came away on the short end of 12-7.

In the final games, Kitchikmat, B.C. trounced North Delta 13-6 in the C division, Richmond edged Whitby 10-7 in the B division, while a powerful Burnaby A club demolished Peterborough Petes A by 26-3.

St. Albert can be very proud of the excellent performance by its bantam lacrosse club, both on and off the playing floor. They acted with sportsmanship and represented the city well. One of the side events of the trip was the introduction of the St. Albert Toros at a Vancouver Whitecaps soccer game.

In the impressive final ceremonies, after all 26 teams had been piped in to the Sun God Arena, an added honour came to St. Albert when Erin Oor was selected to the six-man all-star team for the B division.

The tourney, under the sponsorship of the St. Albert Hercules Sports Association and the Alberta Soccer Association, was "one of the smoothest ever seen," according to organizer Herman Kochan.

The Grandview and Calgary teams will travel to Denver, Colorado this weekend to play the two top eastern Canadian teams for the Canadian final, with the winner playing their American counterpart for the North American final. The Americans are also holding their national finals the same weekend in Denver.

A's increase bank account in Grove tournament

St. Albert Nu-West A's failed to take home top money in the annual Spruce Grove 12-team fastball tournament over the weekend but did pick up $350. for second place and have now won a total of $2,900 to date.

A's lost the final to Westlock by a 10-1 score for their only loss in five games.

St. Albert opened the tournament with a super 4-2 win over the host KC's team with Jack Hartly having five strong innings on the mound in the win. Veteran Dick Bird came in to shut the door in the final two innings. Blair Iseke had three RBI's while Blaine Galbraith had a pair of triples. Galbraith was a "pick up" from the St. Albert Territorial Juniors.

Calahoo Chiefs were the A's next victims as Hartly allowed only two hits while his team-mates were taking a 6-2 win, which knocked the Chiefs from further play. Iseke had a home run for the winners.

Stony Plain Kings appeared to have the A's number in the third game as they led 1-0 with the A's having only one more turn at the plate. Dale Reinbolt led off with a single and advanced to third on successive singles by Galbraith and Iseke. Bird then grounded to the infield to force Reinbolt at home for the first out and Henry Matoga struck out to reduce the A's to their final batter. A's coach Rick Palmer put in Rick Wright as a pinch hitter and he came through in fine style with a double to score two runs and give the A's a 2-1 win and a berth into the finals.

The game with Westlock was the A's third in a row without a break and it showed as they were bounced 10-1. The club also lost the services of second baseman Gord Loiselle when he was injured in a collision with team-mate Jim Lait.

A's are entered in the Calahoo tournament this weekend. St. Albert the following and in Barrhead on the long weekend.

L.B.H. catcher Bill Russell lays down a perfect bunt in the fourth inning and went on to score the winning run in the Builders 5-2 win over Namao Trojans Monday night. The win evened the best of three series at one apiece.

Fastball playoffs continue

Opening play in the Greater St. Albert Men's Fastball League got underway last week at the Meadowview diamonds with only one upset in the opening round.

Namao Trojans pulled off a major upset as they handed the pennant winning LBH Builders a 6-3 set back in the first game of a best of three series.

Builders fought off elimination Monday night with a 5-2 win to even the series with the third game scheduled for tonight.

In other first round play, Mike Mitchell tossed a one hitter at the St. Albert Blue Jays as the Territorial Juniors won their opener 5-0.

St. Albert A's had no trouble with Morinville, winning 12-5, while the Ottocrats had an easy time with Colt 45's in a 6-1 romp. The second game of the series went last night but no scores were available when the Gazette went to press.

Full results of first round action will be in next week's edition.

Builders even series

The LBH Builders of the Greater St. Albert Men's Fastball Association must have been wondering what they had to do to defeat the CFB Namao Trojans Monday night.

The Builders came away with a hard fought 5-2 win over the Trojans, after dropping the opening game in the best of three playoff series 6-3 last week.

The league leaders found themselves facing elimination against an inspired Namao team that hadn't beaten them all year in regular season play.

Dave Lozinski went the distance on the mound for LBH allowing five hits.

The winning run was scored by catcher Bill Russell in the fourth inning on a passed ball.

Collecting RBI's for the Builders were Al Paice, Gary Muscroft, John Johnson and John Prusak. For the Trojans, Wayne Graves batted out a pair of RBI's, which turned out to be all the scoring power for Namao.

Don Sally pitched seven complete innings, allowing five hits and four walks in taking the loss. Four infield errors were charged to the Trojans.

The third and deciding game will be played tonight at 7 p.m. at the Meadowview Diamonds in St. Albert.

Barrhead to host Western Canada playoff

In 1973, the Kinsmen Club of Barrhead spearheaded by Lou Rondeau, tackled the task of hosting the first annual Canadian Midget Baseball Championships. This first ever event proved to be an unqualified success both on and off the field because of the efforts of countless numbers of people throughout the town and county of Barrhead.

On the field, a team from Melville, Saskatchewan, led by a talented righthander named Terry Puhl, dazzled the local fans with a combination of strong pitching and awesome hitting helping his team take the tournaments top honours. Because of his tournament's performance, Puhl was signed by the Houston Astro's organization and Terry is well on his way to a distinguished career which has already included one all-star game appearance in 1978.

The 1979 Western Canadian Junior finals promises much of the same for baseball buffs in the area as five teams comprised of players under the age of 21 years fight for the right to represent Western Canada in the Canadian Championships in Halifax on the Labour Day weekend.

The scene is set for Barrhead, August 17-19 for B.C., Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba's brightest young stars to display their talents to the fans of northern Alberta and an invitation is extended to each baseball fan to help make this effort another success, not only for Barrhead but for baseball in Western Canada.

Action starts at 10 a.m. each day with the final slated for 3 p.m. on Sunday, August 19.

Webb Expos to provincial finals

Webb Hardware Expos will be travelling to Pincher Creek this weekend to represent Zones 5 and 6 in the Alberta Mosquito Baseball Championships. Webb won the right to travel to the Alberta championships by first repeating as Zone 5 champions and then defeating the Edmonton (Zone 6) champions for the right to go to Pincher Creek.

Webb's first game will be at 4 p.m. on Friday against the defending champions and host Pincher Creek. Pincher Creek won the championship last year by beating Webb 3-2 in extra innings in Peace River. Webb players hope to reverse the situation this year.

Webb manager Lorne Ross believes he has a very fine group of 10 and 11 year old boys capable of playing excellent baseball. In addition to his regular players he says the club has picked up Trevor Shum from Spruce Grove and Andy Huculak from Barrhead to assist the team.

Manufacturers win in battle of basement dwellers

By Mike Bargh

Morinville Manufacturers downed Alexander Braves 8-1 in Monday's NCABL action to assure themselves of a final position "out of the cellar" in the nine team junket. The win gives the Manufacturers nine points, and ties them with seventh place Barrhead Astros.

For Manufacturers, victory was never in doubt, as they built up a 6-0 lead after two innings. Played in Alexander, the game was shortened from the customary seven innings to five due to imminent darkness. Winning pitcher for the Manufacturers was Richard Gadoury.

The loss relegates the sad-sack Braves to the league basement for the second year in succession. Give them their dues, though. They've been competitive this year.

Elsewhere, in Monday's action, Westlock Red Lions improved Rochester Royals chances of capturing the fourth and final playoff spot with a 7-2 blitzkrieging of Barrhead Broncos. The loss leaves the Broncos just one point ahead of Royals in the playoff race. Both squads have one game remaining.

Regular season action culminates tonight, with three contests on tap. Very conceivably, the final standings could wind up with a spread of three points separating the top five teams. Players on one of those teams will be dragging their hockey sticks, skates and helmets out of the closet Thursday morning. For the other four squads it's the two day double elimination next weekend in Waskatenau.

TONIGHT'S PICKS

Vimy over Bon Accord by at least five. Manufacturers over Broncos by one, despite the fact Morinville is 4-10-1. Broncos are 9-5-1, and Manufacturers are undoubtedly tired after Monday's match. Royals over Chiefs by one. (really going out on a limb, here.) How many games in a row have the Chiefs won?

Chiefs clinch NCABL pennant

The Waskatenau Chiefs were jubilant last Thursday evening after having disposed of the Barrhead Astros on home turf to clinch the 1979 N.C.A.B.L. pennant. The relatively easy 7 to 1 victory over the Astros was certainly not indicative of the struggle the Chiefs had before taking the coveted pennant to Waskatenau. After the Westlock Red Lion loss to the Vimy Blues (11-8) on Wednesday night, the only club with an outside chance of overtaking the Chiefs were the ever powerful Barrhead Broncos. With Keith Van de Keere on the mound, the Broncos breezed past the Rochester Royals 12-0 on Wednesday night.

On Thursday night the Broncos kept their drive for the pennant alive with a close 2-1 victory over the Manufacturers in Morinville. Van de Keere returned to the mound for the Broncos to assure them of the win, however Mike Gonas threw a strong game for the resurging Manufacturers. Combined with these two victories the Broncos were still needing a Waskatenau loss on Thursday night which did not materialize. The Broncos will now have to be content in battling for a berth in the Series with Vimy and Rochester.

The Red Lions are the only other club assured of a berth in the Series on the strength of their win-loss record against both the Royals and the Blues. The Royals, on the other hand, appear to be on the verge of elimination from the Series. A host of possibilities still remain, however as far as placings are concerned. One certainty remains. The Waskatenau Chiefs will be hosting the 1979 League Championship Series on August 25 and 26.

NCABL All-Stars honoured

The North Central Alberta Baseball League unveiled its 1979 all-star team at a function held in Morinville last week. The Barrhead Broncos led all other clubs in the NCABL by placing a total of seven players on the first and second all-star teams. The Westlock Red Lions managed to place four players on the all-star team, two of whom led the field in ballot points. Many changes were evident in this year's edition of the all-star team as half of the recipients were selected for the first time by the N.C.A.B.L. governors.

Selected to the first all-star team were Barry Kuzminski and Jim McDonald of the Waskatenau Chiefs, deemed to be the best battery in the N.C.A.B.L. Dean Roy of the Manufacturers was chosen at first base, Dwayne Teske of the Red Lions at second and Lorne Niven at third. The Bon Accord Tigers placed Dale Lewis at shortstop while the Red Lions offered Dwaine Jolliffe at utility, the top point getter in this year's balloting. First team picks in the outfield were Rick Mueller from the Red Lions, Owen Voaklander of the Royals and Gary Piconi of the Broncos. Harry Burchett of the Red Lions and Zen Chaba of the Chiefs were selected as the top coaches in the NCABL.

Selected to the second all-star team were pitcher Brian Hamagami of the Broncos, catcher Rick Provencal of the Blues, first baseman Del Schaffrick and second baseman Gary Hawkey of the Broncos, third baseman Zen Chaba of the Chiefs, shortstop Brian Kelm of the Astros and utility man John Osborne of the Broncos. The second team all-stars in the outfield were led by Bevin McNelly of the Blues who was accompanied by Dean Hengel of the Red Lions and Reg Morin of the Broncos.

The 1979 NCABL all-stars are the third team so chosen by the League and upon close scrutiny, probably the best to ever be fielded. At full strength, they should prove to be an awesome force.

Records set at Canadian Archery Championships

The 1979 Canadian Archery Championships took place over the last few days at Lake Eden's Glory Hills Archery Range, with 25 Canadian Championship records and 21 Canadian Open records set.

Included in the record setters was Edmonton's Stewart Bowman in the male professional class, who shot 1308 out of 1440 in the FITA round.

According to Kevin Teitge, publicity director of the Glory Hills Archery Club, there was "some super shooting."

In the men's freestyle class, Roger Lemay of Boisbriand, Que., took top honours with a 3294 score, followed by Ottawa's Stan Siatkowski and Chris Smith of Harvey Station, New Brunswick. (All scores are out of 3840).

In women's freestyle, Lucille Lemay of Boisbriand scored 3291 to place first, with Toronto's Joan McDonald second and Ottawa's Jean Mainland third.

Jack Woodward of Redcliff, Alberta won the men's unlimited round, followed by Mike Corman of Windsor and Andy Woo of Vancouver. Woodward will be coaching the Canadian Olympic archery team in the Moscow Olympics.

In women's unlimited, Rose-Ann Jackson of Lindsay, Ont., took first place with a score of 3392. Second place went to Eileen Ferrier of Calgary, with third to Louise Norman of Enfield, Nova Scotia.

Albertans placing in the top three in other classes include Lino Gennaro of Edmonton, who placed second in the men's barebow; Stewart Bowman of Edmonton, second in male professional; and Sorrel Bowman of Edmonton, first in female professional.

St. Albert's Liano Gorman placed third in junior boys barebow with a score of 562.

The "Field Championship of the Americas" team was chosen at the meet. It consists of Stan Siatkowski of Ottawa, Wayne Pullen of Dorchester, Ont., and Roger Lemay of Boisbriand, Que., in the male freestyle event.

In the men's barebow, Ray Van Dale of Prince Albert and Carl De Wilde of London, Ont. qualified, while Lucille Lemay of Boisbriand, Joan McDonald of Toronto and Jean Mainland of Ottawa made it in the women's freestyle. The team will compete in the Americas competition in Mexico City October 12 and 13.

Leggat joins Driller front office

The most recent edition to the Edmonton Drillers of the North American Soccer League is the highly touted Graham Leggat, former coach of the Toronto Metros and most recently of Carling O'Keefe.

The 45 year old Leggat was presented to the media Monday afternoon by Peter Pocklington, owner of the Drillers.

Leggat signed after negotiations with Pocklington, and will assume his duties in the post of vice-president and managing director September 15.

Leggat has been connected with soccer in Canada since 1971, when he was named the founding coach of the Toronto Metros of the NASL (now the Toronto Blizzard). He remained with Toronto for over a year, then became an executive with Carling O'Keefe.

At the news conference,

Leggat said he had many offers from various clubs around the NASL enticing him back to the world of soccer, but realized if he was to return to the game, Edmonton would be the best city to do so.

He attended a game between the Drillers and the Houston Hurricane on August 3 in the pouring rain, and was amazed at the interest of the fans in such poor weather. This he said, was what made him decide on a future in Edmonton.

In the past, Leggat has played on many English clubs, including Fulham, Birmingham City, Rotherham United, and the Scottish club Aberdeen. He also played 25 games for Scotland in international matches.

His European coaching career saw him at the reins of Aston Villa prior to his move to Toronto.

Women's 10km road race on Sunday

Royal Trust Real Estate and the YMCA of Edmonton are pleased to announce Edmonton road race for Sunday, August 19 at 9 a.m. expected to challenge the 6.2 mile course, starting at the West YMCA, 109 Avenue and 129 Street, and winding through the scenic Glenora district of West Edmonton.

Entry forms are available at any YMCA, YWCA, Royal Trust Real Estate offices, the Kinsmen Fieldhouse, most sports stores, or by phoning 452-9204. The entry fee is $5.50, and the deadline for entries is Saturday, August 18th.

There will be four categories for the road race, under 18 (must be 14 years old), novice, open and over 40. Medals will be awarded to the top three finishers in each class. T-shirts and certificates will be given to all participants.

Janet Daly, race director and a program supervisor with the YMCA, outlines the objectives of this initial Edmonton venture, "To provide women runners in Alberta with an opportunity to participate in an event specially organized for their needs, a race to challenge not only the experienced competitive runner, but the novice as well, with a view to encouraging more women to participate in this increasingly popular sport and to improve their level of physical fitness."

Although many open races are held in Edmonton, they are geared primarily to male participants. This event will draw attention to the ever increasing number of women who have found competition and improved physical fitness in running and hopefully attract others to experience the thrill of achieving a worthwhile goal.

A new interest by Canadians in fitness is evidenced by the growing number of races and fun runs attracting thousands of runners in cities and towns across Canada and the U.S.A. This phenomenon is clearly apparent here in Edmonton to anyone who has seen the growing number of enthusiasts taking to the streets and parks morning, noon and night. Edmontonians have caught on to the fitness craze. Bill Stewart, director of operations and Metro co-ordinator for Edmonton YMCA, points out that the YMCA has experienced a 200 percent growth in participation in fitness classes in the last five years.

Brian Patterson, regional manager of Royal Trust Real Estate for Northern Alberta, describes Royal Trust's involvement as an exciting opportunity for the company to participate not only in a new and worthwhile event for women, but in the Edmonton community's growing awareness of the benefits of physical fitness. "It is our hope that this project will grow from year to year and attract an ever increasing number of women runners, both novice and experienced."

Flag football league opens with lopsided wins

With the first week of play now a matter of history in the Sturgeon Men's Flag Football League it appears that a few teams could use a little practice (some might argue it won't help).

Bonneville Casuals opened their season like a bunch of pom-pom girls losing to the RMC Sportsmen (last year's Sore Losers) by the incredibly casual score of 63-6. Must be a few red faces after that one. The game sheet has gone missing and no one is certain whether the Casuals had it destroyed or the Sportsmen had it framed.

The Blubber Butts of last season obviously must still be carrying excess baggage. Playing as the Mayfair Plumbing Bombers this season they failed to fool the Standard Generals (remember the Longview Longhorns) who clipped their wings to the tune of 32-6. It looks like Larry (The Bomb) Powers and last year's scoring leader Rob (Little Guts) Crossley better find each other soon if the Bombers hope to be in the running come playoff time.

The other one sided affair involved two new teams, the Sturgeon Sabres and the Chargers with the Sabres coming out on top 33-6. Sabres' Quarterback Ron Rouault tossed four touchdown strikes, three to Art Wanuch and one to Bernie Hartmetz. Wanuch connected with Hartmetz for the Chargers only score of the game. (You'll note by the names and stats that these two teams were the only one which appear capable of filling out a scoresheet so that it can be read).

Best match-up of the week was the Rummies/Phantoms contest. Rummies, expected to be a power in the league this season after winning it all last year, were taken to the limit before outlasting the Phantoms 13-12. Jeff Holden threw passes to brother Martin and some clown wearing an unlisted number for the Rummies' majors while his counterpart Ed Shaback found Allan Stephen for 12 points. The difference in the game was the successful point after attempt from Holden to a guy called 23.

Other than the scoresheet foul-ups (a new draft is in the works) and some refereeing problems (everyone wants to play but only a few are willing to log the volunteer time) the first week didn't work out too badly.

Statistics are probably the most urgent need at this point and that responsibility belongs to the Phantoms. So far no one's done the job which is going to make things difficult come playoff and trophy time. Maybe the Phantoms have chosen a suitable name and don't really exist beyond our imaginations. Did anyone on the Rummies actually see a face in those black uniforms? Please Turn to Page B21.

flag football league

It would be greatly appreciated if someone from the Phantoms could contact Duff at the Gazette so that some sort of system can be worked out. The number is 458-2240.

Games this week will see RMC Sportsmen and Standard Generals meeting to determine which team wants to go 2 and 0. The Rummies will take on the infamous Dirty Dozen in the Dozen's league opener. A warning to the Rummies: it has been rumored that a member of the Dirty Dozen has been seen cavorting at the Flashback Club. He thinks pulling flags might cover up his perverted habit. Watch where you're grabbed.

The other games this week involve last week's losers.

Bonneville Casuals hope to recover some lost pride when they take on the Mayfair Bombers and the Chargers will be looking for the same in their match-up with the Phantoms.

A's advance in fastball playoffs

St. Albert Nu-West A's shut out Morinville I.C.S. 8-0 Tuesday night to take their best of three first round Greater St. Albert Men's Fastball League series in two straight. A's won the opener

Dick Bird went all the way on the mound for the win and Rick Wright's first inning home run was all the A's needed.

Trophy Bank Colt 45's evened their series with Trail Leisure Ottocrats Tuesday night with a 1-0 win with Jim Milne on the mound.

Territorial Juniors and St. Albert Blue Jays meet tonight in their second game with the Juniors winning the opener 5-0.

L.B.H. Builders will also play Nanao Trojans tonight in the third game of their series.
